ITEM 1.01 ENTRY INTO A MATERIAL DEFINITIVE AGREEMENT.

On March 31, 2014, Aethlon Medical, Inc. (“Registrant” or the “Company”) entered into separate Amendments to Convertible Notes and Warrants (collectively, the “Amendments”) with three accredited investors (collectively, the “Investors”) who own certain convertible promissory notes (collectively, the “Notes”) and warrants (collectively, the “Warrants”) previously issued by the Company on various dates between December 5, 2007 and September 23, 2011. The issuances of the Notes and Warrants were previously reported by the Company on Current Reports on Form 8-K dated December 11, 2007, August 25, 2009, September 3, 2010, April 7, 2011 and September 28, 2011.

Prior to the Amendments, the Notes were past maturity and were in default, resulting in the accrual of interest at the applicable default interest rate. The Amendments extended the maturity date of each of the Notes to April 1, 2016, which permits the Company to classify them as long-term liabilities. As a result of the Amendments, the Notes are no longer in default and the non-default interest rate for all of the Notes was set at twelve percent (12%) per annum, which represents a reduction from the default interest rates of fifteen percent (15%) and eighteen percent (18%) at which interest had been accruing. By entering into the Amendments, the Company also agreed to increase the currently outstanding principal amount of the Notes by 12% from a total of $693,260 to a total of $776,451.

During the period from October 2011 to February 2014, the Investors had converted, at conversion prices between $.0546 and $.07 per share, portions of principal and interest outstanding under the Notes and certain other convertible promissory notes previously issued to them by the Company. Certain antidilution provisions applicable to such notes should have resulted in such conversions being effected at a conversion price of $.042 per share. Accordingly, pursuant to the Amendments, the Company issued to the investors an aggregate of 4,507,105 shares of the Company’s Common Stock, which represents the additional shares of Common Stock that would have been issued to the Investors had such conversions been effected at $.042 per share.

The Amendments also provide that if all of the Company’s currently outstanding promissory notes and warrants that contain antidilution adjustment provisions (other than the Investors’ Notes and Warrants) are amended to remove, or the holders thereof waive, such provisions, then any similar antidilution provisions in the Investors’ Notes and Warrants will automatically be deemed removed. In addition, for so long as the Investors’ Notes and Warrants are outstanding, the Company will not be permitted to issue any Common Stock or Common Stock equivalents (or modify, with equivalent effect, any outstanding Common Stock or Common Stock equivalents) at a lower price than the then-current conversion price of the Notes and exercise price of the Warrants (with certain issuances to be excepted from this general provision). If the Company’s other note and warrant holders agree to waive the antidilution provisions of their securities on the same basis as agreed to by the Investors, then the Company will no longer be required to report a derivative liability in its financial statements with the accompanying quarterly adjustments to its financial statements and will transfer the amount shown as a derivative liability to equity.

The Amendments also set the conversion price of the Notes, as well as the exercise price at which shares of the Company’s Common Stock can be purchased under the Warrants, at $.042 per share. By virtue of the Amendments, the expiration dates of the Warrants also were extended from dates between September 3, 2015 and September 23, 2016 to January 1, 2017.

The foregoing description of the Amendments does not purport to be complete and is qualified in its entirety by the form of Amendment of Convertible Notes and Warrants attached hereto as Exhibit 10.1, which is incorporated herein by reference.
