To All thinkorswim Associates:

Thank you very much for your patience and for being so welcoming to the TD AMERITRADE Associates who have been visiting your offices over the past few weeks. We have received extremely positive feedback about you and about thinkorswim.

We know that you have many questions about TD AMERITRADE and how this deal is going to affect you personally. While we've tried to be as transparent as possible and communicate as much information as we have, there are still many unanswered questions.

Attached is a Q&A that we hope will address some of the questions on your mind. While it does not cover everything, it's a start. We appreciate your patience as we work through details of the integration, and we will continue to provide updates as more information becomes available.

Thank you,

Karen Ganzlin

Frequently Asked Questions

(Developed for SWIM Associates April 1, 2009)

1. What does TD AMERITRADE mean by some jobs will be lost and employees will be treated fairly and with respect?

We understand that potential job loss and uncertainty are difficult things to deal with, and we are committed to sharing information with affected Associates as soon as possible. We are at least two to three months from close and these decisions have not been made.

Associates who do not have a role in the combined organization will be notified individually, prior to any wider communication being distributed. Associates whose positions are eliminated as a result of the integration will be needed for a minimum of 60 days after deal close and will then be eligible for severance benefits and outplacement assistance. Our plan is to notify all impacted employees within 30 days of deal close if their job is impacted or eliminated.

2. Can you provide more information on the severance?

Eligible Associates will receive severance pay equal to three weeks of base pay for every completed year of continuous service with the company. The minimum severance payment for eligible Associates is four weeks. The total number of weeks used to calculate the severance payment is called the severance period.

In order to receive severance pay, Associates will be required to sign a separation agreement and release. Associates whose employment is terminated for cause, those who voluntarily resign, and those who do not accept an offer of comparable employment with TD AMERITRADE will not be eligible for these severance benefits. Interns, temporary workers and contractors are not eligible for severance benefits.

Associates will be paid for any accrued, unused vacation and will be eligible for outplacement assistance.

3. What do you mean by a comparable role/job?

A comparable role or job is defined as a position at TD AMERITRADE that:

- a. Does not result in a decrease in base salary or bonus opportunity, in the aggregate.
- b. Includes a substantially similar level of responsibilities as the employee's position prior to closing date.
- c. A principal job location that is not more than 50 miles from the employee's current location.

4. Who is eligible for supplemental stay-on severance?

Certain employees who will be needed for a longer transition (beyond the minimum 60 days) may be eligible for Supplemental Stay-on Severance, which will be communicated individually.

5. Are TD AMERITRADE Associates eligible for the same severance benefits?

Yes. Current TD AMERITRADE Associates who do not have a role in the combined company will be eligible for the same benefits outlined above.

6. If my position is eliminated and no other comparable job is identified, can I post for other jobs within the company?

Yes. All employees are eligible to post for other positions at TD AMERITRADE. Details on that process will be communicated to impacted employees.

Compensation

7. How will my compensation change?

Your compensation, in aggregate, will remain the same, however, plan design and mix of pay (base, incentive, etc.) may change going forward. We don't anticipate any major compensation design changes until early in the new fiscal or calendar year 2010.

8. What will happen to our stock options after the deal closes?

In-the-money and out-of-the-money SWIM stock options that are outstanding at close will be assumed and converted into TD AMERITRADE options using an option exchange ratio. Current vesting terms and conditions will remain the same. Prior to the closing, SWIM employees will have the opportunity to tender any out-of-the-money options for cancellation and replacement with an equivalent fair value of thinkorswim restricted stock units, which will be converted to TD AMERITRADE restricted stock units upon closing. Details will be provided prior to the close date.

Benefits

9. When the deal closes, will my benefits change?

Associates will move to TD AMERITRADE's health and welfare benefits plans no sooner than January 1, 2010. TD AMERITRADE has a comprehensive benefits package that includes medical, dental, vision, life insurance, short- and long-term disability coverage, 401(k), Paid Time Off, and military, bereavement and other leaves. Because individual insurance needs vary, and our Associates have told us they want choice and flexibility in their medical plans, the company offers five different plans from which to choose. Details of these plans will be shared after the deal closes.

10. How does TD AMERITRADE's 401(k) plan work and will SWIM Associates be eligible to participate?

TD AMERITRADE has a 401(k) plan with a discretionary profit sharing component. The company matches Associate contributions at 50 percent, up to 6 percent of eligible compensation. The company's profit sharing contribution is determined each year by the company's Board of Directors. The employer match and profit sharing contributions are subject to a vesting schedule of 20 percent per year, based on hire date. As is presently the case, current 401(k) balances at SWIM will remain 100 percent vested as of the closing date. TD AMERITRADE's 401(k) Plan provides a comprehensive array of investment choices including a self directed brokerage account feature. Great-West Retirement Services is our third-party 401(k) administrator.

11. How will my years of service with SWIM be recognized?

You will receive credit for continuous years of service with SWIM, including its acquired subsidiaries, (based on your most recent hire date) in all TD AMERITRADE programs, including the 401(k) plan described above.

12. What holidays does TD AMERITRADE observe?

The company recognizes all holidays observed by the markets. This includes New Year's Day, Martin Luther King Jr.'s Birthday, President's Day, Good Friday, Memorial Day, Independence Day, Labor Day, Thanksgiving Day and Christmas Day.

13. Does TD AMERITRADE have a Wellness Program?

Yes. TD AMERITRADE is committed to helping Associates stay healthy and/or manage their health risks. SWIM Associates will be able to participate in the Wellness Program once the deal closes. Following are some of the components of the Wellness Program:

- a. Flu shots and biometric testing clinics are conducted each fall at all major locations. Associates can get a flu shot, check their blood pressure and have their blood sugar and cholesterol levels checked, all free and right at the office.
 - b. TD AMERITRADE has a Subsidized Gym Membership Program that offers eligible Associates a reimbursement of up to $300 per year ($75 per quarter) toward the cost of a gym membership.
 - c. Associates are eligible for discounts of up to 50 percent on smoking cessation and weight loss prescription drugs (eligibility depends on chosen medical plan).
 - d. Medical plan participants are eligible for online health assessments and personal coaching. In the health assessment, Associates answer a series of questions and receive a confidential report indicating strengths and areas for improvement. An online coach then provides personalized plans to address identified improvement areas, everything from nutrition and exercise to stress management, weight loss and ways to manage specific health risks.
 - e. Weight Watchers @ Work programs are available at locations where Associates have expressed an interest. The company pays about 50 percent of the cost as long as Associates attend weekly meetings.
