PART I

Item 1. Description of Business

(a) Business Development.

In 1950, John, Ray, and Hartford Henry founded Henry Bros. Electronics. They sold Henry Bros. Electronics to Communication Group, Inc. ("CGI") in 1985. In 1989, Jim Henry, our Chairman and Chief Executive Officer, and Irvin Witcosky, our President and Chief Operating Officer reacquired certain assets, including the name Henry Bros. Electronics ("HBE") from CGI. In 1991 we acquired the assets of the former Motorola CCTV division and formed Viscom Products, Inc. ("Viscom"). In 1999 we formed a company named Integcom Corp. incorporated in Delaware into which we transferred both HBE and Viscom. In 2001 we changed our name to Diversified Security Solutions, Inc. and in 2005 we changed our name to Henry Bros. Electronics, Inc.

In November 2001, we completed our initial public offering, including the underwriter's over-allotment option of an aggregate of 1,725,000 shares of common stock. Our shares are traded on the American Stock Exchange under the ticker symbol HBE.

In May 2002, we purchased Photo Scan Systems, Inc. ("Photo Scan") a security integrator located in southern California and changed its name to Henry Bros. Electronics, Inc. in December 2002.

In August 2002, Photo Scan acquired National Safe of California, Inc. which sells and services alarm security equipment, lock and timing mechanisms, vault security, control and backup systems and high resolution security equipment used by commercial banks.

In September 2002, Photo Scan acquired Corporate Security Integration, LLC. ("CSI") a security integrator located in Phoenix, Arizona, and subsequently changed its name to Henry Bros. Electronics, LLC.

In April 2004, we acquired Airorlite Communications, Inc., a company located in Saddle Brook, New Jersey, that specializes in the design, manufacture and maintenance of wireless communications equipment used to enhance emergency radio frequency services and cellular communication for both fixed and mobile applications.

In October 2005, we acquired Securus, Inc. a security integrator with offices in Denver and Colorado Springs, Colorado.

Our principal executive offices are located at 280 Midland Avenue, Saddle Brook, New Jersey 07663, and our telephone number is (201) 794-6500.

(b) Business of Issuer

We are a single-source/turn-key provider of technology-based security solutions for medium and large commercial enterprises and government agencies in the United States.

Security Distributing and Marketing magazine ("SDM") ranks by 2004 revenue the top 100 largest firms selling closed circuit TV ("CCTV"), access control and integrated security systems. We were ranked No. 21 in SDM's Top Systems Integrators Report published in July 2005.

As a single-source/turn-key provider of diversified technology-based integrated security solutions, we can expedite project completion and optimize system manpower performance. The continually evolving security requirements of commercial and government entities, together with rapidly advancing technology, provides numerous opportunities for us to assist our clients with their security needs.

We believe that the following key attributes provide us with a sustainable competitive advantage:

- o Experience and expertise;
- o Technological sophistication;
- o Quality control; and
- o Strong list of references.

Our Strategy

Our strategy consists of the following components:

- o Maintain and develop long-term relationships with clients;
- o Focus on high value-added services;
- o Continue to expand our client base in targeted industries;
- o Maintain a high level of technological sophistication;
- o Sell additional services to our established client base; and
- o Pursue strategic acquisitions that would be complementary to our business and accretive to earnings

Edgar Filing: Henry Bros. Electronics, Inc. - Form 10KSB

Our operations are divided into two business segments - Security System Integration ("Integration") and Specialty Products and Services ("Specialty"). The Integration segment provides a cradle to grave services for a wide variety of security, communications and control systems. The Company specializes in turnkey systems that integrate many different technologies. Systems are customized to meet the specific needs of its customers. In October 2005 the Company acquired Securus, Inc. a provider of security system integration with offices in Denver and Colorado Springs Colorado. The Specialty Products and Services segment ("Specialty") includes the Company's digital mobile recording business, Viscom Products, Inc. ("Viscom") and the Emergency Preparedness Planning Programs ("EPPP") division. In April 2004, the Company acquired Airorlite Communications, Inc. ("Airorlite") which is included within the Specialty segment. Airorlite specializes in designing, manufacturing and maintaining wireless communications equipment used to enhance and extend emergency radio frequency services and cellular communication for both fixed and mobile applications. Each of the Company's segments markets nationwide with an emphasis in the New Jersey/New York, Southern California, Dallas, Phoenix and Denver metropolitan areas. Customers are primarily medium and large businesses and governmental agencies. The Company derives a majority of its revenues from project installations and to a smaller extent, maintenance service revenue.

Our Integration Solution

At the beginning of each new client relationship, we designate one member of our professional staff as the client service contact. This individual is the point person for communications between the client and us and often serves as the client's project manager for all of its security needs. Our engagement may include:

- o Consulting and planning;
- o Engineering and design;
- o Systems installation and management;
- o Systems training; and
- o Maintenance and technical support.

Consulting and Planning

Security consulting and planning are the initial phases of determining a security solution for a project. We have developed a planning process that identifies all systems, policies and procedures that are required for the successful operation of a security system that will both meet a client's current needs and accommodate its projected future requirements. Our consulting and planning process includes the following steps:

- o Identify the client's objectives and security system requirements;
- o Survey the site(s), including inventory of physical components and software and evaluation of client's existing infrastructure and security system;
- o Assess and prioritize the client's vulnerabilities;
- o Develop and evaluate system alternatives;
- o Recommend a conceptual security plan design;
- o Estimate the cost of implementing the conceptual plan; and
- o Develop a preliminary implementation schedule.

Edgar Filing: Henry Bros. Electronics, Inc. - Form 10KSB

As a result of this process, we provide the client with a master plan for an effective security solution that addresses routine operating needs as well as emergency situations.

We believe that our comprehensive planning process enables our clients to budget for their security requirements on a long-term basis, identify opportunities for cost reduction and prepare for future risks.

Engineering and Design

The engineering and design process involves preparation of detailed project specifications and working drawings by a team of our engineers, systems designers and computer-aided design system operators. These specifications and drawings detail the camera sensitivity requirements, layout of the control center, placement of cameras, card readers and other equipment and electrical requirements. Throughout our engineering and design process, our goal is to understand our client's operational preferences in order to design a system that is functional, cost-effective and accommodates our client's present and future requirements. In addition, we attempt to incorporate our client's existing personnel, equipment and other physical resources into the system design.

When retained as a single-source provider for turnkey security solutions, we select system components required under the specifications and drawings. We recommend that our customers buy proven off-the-shelf devices and software and resort to custom equipment only when absolutely necessary.

We have made a strategic decision not to represent any equipment manufacturer exclusively, thereby maintaining objectivity and flexibility in equipment selection. We believe that our technical proficiency with the products available from a wide range of manufacturers enables us to select components that will best meet a project's requirements.

Systems Installation and Management

Under the supervision of the manager of the project, our technicians install hardware, integrate hardware and software, and validate and test the system. Subcontractors typically perform the aspects of systems integration that do not require a high level of technical expertise, such as wire installation and basic construction. Components that may be integrated in a security system include the following:

- o Access control systems, which are designed to exclude unauthorized personnel from specified areas;
- o Intrusion detection systems, which detect unauthorized door and window openings, glass breakage, vibration, motion, noise and alarms and other peripheral equipment;
- o Closed circuit television systems, which monitor and record entry and exit activity or provide surveillance of designated areas;
- o Critical condition monitoring systems, which provide alarm monitoring and supervision of various systems and facilities; and
- o Intercoms, public address, fire detection signals and network connectivity that can expand a local security system into a closely controlled worldwide system.

Systems Training

Edgar Filing: Henry Bros. Electronics, Inc. - Form 10KSB

Upon completion of a systems integration project, we typically will provide the customer with system documentation and training in the operation and maintenance of the system.

Maintenance and Technical Support

We provide maintenance and technical support services on a scheduled, on-call, or emergency basis. These services include developing and implementing maintenance programs both for security systems designed, engineered, or integrated by us and for existing systems.

Our Specialty Solutions

Viscom specialty is integrating digital video and voice recording solutions for mobile deployment on municipal buses and trains. Viscom solutions include products manufactured by third party vendors. Airorlite specializes in designing, manufacturing and maintaining wireless communications equipment used to enhance and extend emergency radio frequency services and cellular communication for both fixed and mobile applications. Our EPPP division works with high-rise office building management to analyze their specific facilities needs relating to emergency response plans and the communication and training of such plans to the building community.

Marketing

Our marketing activities are conducted on both national and regional levels. We obtain engagements through direct negotiation with clients, competitive bid processes and referrals. At the national level, we conduct analyses of various industries and target those with significant demand for security solutions. At a regional level, we have developed and implemented a marketing plan that targets specific regions of the country. The plan identifies prospective clients within specific regions of the country and sets forth a strategy for developing relationships with them.

We have developed expertise in the security regulations applicable to airports and seaports, high-rise buildings, public transportation systems, healthcare, financial, educational and other vertical markets. We have identified several key industries or facility types that we believe have substantial and increasing requirements for security services, including corporate campuses and federal facilities.

Customers

We provide our products and services to customers in the public and private sectors through direct sales to end-users and through subcontracting agreements and have provided services to customers representing each of the vertical markets described under Marketing.

Competition

The security industry is highly fragmented and competitive. We compete on a local, regional and national basis with systems integrators, consulting firms and engineering and design firms. Our competitors include equipment manufacturers and vendors that also provide security services. Many of our competitors have greater name recognition and financial resources. We believe that we compete primarily on our ability to deliver solutions that effectively meet a client's requirements and, to a lesser extent and primarily in competitive bid situations, on price. Many of the larger public sector projects require performance bonds, which may limit our ability to compete with larger competitors as the prime contractor, depending upon the specifications of the project.

Employees

As of February 2006, we had 172 full time employees, including officers, of whom: 122 were engaged in engineering, systems installation and maintenance services, 22 in administration and accounting, and 28 in marketing and sales. None of our employees are covered by a collective bargaining agreement or are represented by a labor union. We consider our relationship with our employees to be satisfactory.

Our business requires substantial technical capabilities in many disciplines, from mechanics and computer science to electronics and advanced software. We emphasize continued training for new and existing technical personnel. Accordingly, we conduct training classes and seminars in-house, send select employees to technical schools and avail ourselves of training opportunities offered by equipment manufacturers and other specialists on a regular basis.

Pricing

We employ a variety of pricing strategies for our services. Systems integration projects are based upon the estimated cost of the equipment for the project including a profit margin, plus the estimated hours for each skill set, required to complete the project multiplied by the rate quoted, plus a profit margin. Pricing for engineering and maintenance services are determined based on the scope of the specific project and the length of our engagement. Proposals for consulting and threat assessment services are priced based on an estimate of hours multiplied by standard rates or on a project basis.

Risk Factors

Our business, operations and financial conditions are subject to various risks. Some of these are described below. This section does not describe all risks that may be applied to our Company, our industry or our business and is intended only as a summary of certain material risk factors.

We are dependent upon a small number of customers for a large portion of our revenues

We have a small number of customers from which we receive a large portion of our revenues. Our work with the Triborough Bridge & Tunnel Authority accounted for 15% of total revenue during 2005, with our five largest customers represented approximately 37% of our 2005 revenue. Revenues from governmental agencies accounted for 39% in 2005 versus 20% in 2004. Consequently, we are often required to replace one customer with one or more other customers in order to generate the same amount of revenues. There can be no assurance that we will continue to be able to do so.

Some of our orders and contracts may be cancelled or modified so there is a risk that our backlog may not be fulfilled

Some of our orders and contract backlog are subject to cancellation or modification by our customers at any time so we cannot be certain that we will recognize revenues from them. As of December 31, 2005, our backlog was approximately $16,003,000.

We are dependent on a few vendors and rely on timely delivery of equipment from outside sources

There are a few vendors from whom we obtain devices and software for specific access control, imaging, remote transmission, smart key and mobile applications. The loss of any one of these companies as suppliers could have a materially adverse impact on our business, financial condition and results of operations if we are unable to develop or acquire new technologies from other sources. We believe there are alternative vendors to source such products.

Timely vendor deliveries of equipment meeting our quality control standards from all suppliers are also important to our business because each installed system requires the integration of a variety of elements to be fully functional. The failure to deliver any component when required, in operating condition, can delay the project, triggering contract penalties, delay in progress payments and may result in cancellation of the project.

We have not been consistently profitable and may not be profitable in the future

For the years ended December 31, 2005 and 2004 our revenues were $42,156,188 and $29,725,718, respectively, and our net income was $1,108,278 and $44,021 respectively. Our profit has not been continuous and we can make no assurances that we will be profitable in the future.

We experience intense competition for business from a variety of sources

In systems integration, we compete for new business with large construction firms, electrical contractors and consultants in the security business and other systems integrators. Many of our competitors are much larger and have greater resources. In order to effectively compete in the future, we may have to charge less for our services, which may result in lower profit margins.

We rely on only a few key executives

James E. Henry and Irvin F. Witcosky, our two key executives, are vital to our business operations. The loss of either of them could have a materially adverse impact on our business, financial condition or results of operations.

Our business and growth will suffer if we are unable to hire and retain highly skilled personnel

Competition for highly skilled employees is intense in our industry. The design and manufacture of our equipment, and the installation of our systems, requires substantial technical capabilities in many disparate disciplines from mechanics and computer science to electronics and advanced software. Our future success depends on our ability to attract, train, motivate and retain highly skilled employees. If we are unable to hire and retain skilled personnel, our growth may be restricted, the quality of our products and services diminished and our revenues and the value of your investment reduced. There is no assurance that we will be able to retain our skilled employees or attract, assimilate and retain other highly skilled employees in the future.

Lengthy revenues cycle

Revenue of our services and products frequently involves a substantial commitment of resources to evaluate a potential project and prepare a proposal. In addition, approval of proposals often involves a lengthy process due to clients' internal procedures and capital expenditure approval processes. We may not be awarded a project that we have prepared a proposal for and, even if we are, a substantial period of time may elapse from when we make a proposal to when we can recognize revenues from the project.

Seasonality

Revenues of our services have typically been seasonal in nature and there could be periods of fluctuations in revenue volume due to the timing of project installations or factors that are beyond the Company's control, such as weather and construction delays.

We may make acquisitions or form joint ventures that are unsuccessful

Part of our growth strategy involves acquisitions or joint ventures with other system integrators. This strategy is subject to the following risks, the occurrence of which could have a materially adverse impact on our business, financial condition or results of operations:

- o We may not be able to identify suitable acquisition and joint venture candidates.
- o If the purchase price of an acquisition includes cash, we may need to use a significant portion of our available cash or credit facility with our bank.
- o We could have difficulty assimilating the acquired company's operations and personnel or working with the joint venture. These difficulties could disrupt our ongoing business, distract our management and employees and increase our expenses and charges.
- o We may not be able to retain key employees of the acquired companies or maintain good relations with its customers or suppliers.
- o We may be required to incur additional debt.
- o We may be required to issue equity securities to pay for such acquisition, which will dilute existing shareholders.
- o We may have to incur significant accounting charges, such as for an impairment of intangible assets, which may adversely affect our results of operations.

The Chief Executive Officer and Chief Operating Officer own a significant amount of our common stock and their interests may be different from and conflict with yours

The interests of the Chief Executive Officer and Chief Operating Officer could conflict with the interests of our other stockholders. Mr. Henry and Mr. Witcosky beneficially own a total of approximately 47.5% of our outstanding common stock. Accordingly, if they act together, they may have the power to control the election of all of our directors or other issues for which the approval of our shareholders is required.

The trading volume in our common stock fluctuates and as a result you may find it difficult to sell your shares of our common stock.

Our common stock is listed on the American Stock Exchange. Trading in our common stock fluctuates and on some days is minimal. Failure to maintain an active trading market in our common stock could negatively affect the price of our common stock and your ability to sell our common stock.

Revenues

Revenues for the year ended December 31, 2005 were $42,156,188, representing an increase of $12,430,470 or 41.8%, as compared to $29,725,718 for the year ended December 31, 2004. The increase in revenue was principally related to an increase of $12,593,273 in the Company's integration business. The New Jersey/New York region accounted for approximately $11.5 million of the increased Integration revenue of which single customer project represented approximately $5.2 million. Our backlog for this single customer project at December 31, 2005 was approximately $3.2 million as compared to $6.8 million at December 31, 2004. In October 2005, the Company acquired Securus, Inc., a provider of security integration systems. Revenues for Securus were $1,101,509 for the period October 11, 2005 through December 31, 2005. Revenues to governmental agencies represented 39% and 20% of total revenues, for the years ended December 31, 2005 and 2004, respectively.

Cost of Revenues

Cost of revenues for the year ended December 31, 2005 was $31,581,187, as compared to $22,305,632 for the year ended December 31, 2004. This was an increase of $9,275,555 or 41.6% Gross profit margin was 25.1% for the year ended December 31, 2005, as compared to 25.0 % for the year ended December 31, 2004. Direct labor for our Integration segment decreased as a percent of revenue accounting for most of the increase in this segments gross profit margin to 24.3% for the year ended December 31, 2005 versus 22.3% for the prior year period. Our specialty segment gross profit margin decreased to 32.4% for the year ended December 31, 2005 versus 43.3% for the same period of the prior year. The decrease on a flat revenue comparison is due to a change in the revenue mix from Airorlite to Viscom.

Selling, General and Administrative Expenses

Selling, general and administrative expenses increased to $8,467,192 for the year ended December 31, 2005, from $7,020,885 for the year ended December 31, 2004. Selling, general and administrative expenses as a percentage of revenues decreased to 20.1% for the year ended December 31, 2005 versus 23.6% for the year ended December 31, 2004. This increase of $1,446,307, or 20.6%, was primarily attributable to increased headcount and staff costs. As the Company's revenues increased in 2005, our corporate expenses decreased as a percent of our consolidated revenue to 3.3% for the year ended December 31, 2005 as compared with 4.4% for the same period of the prior year.

Interest Income

Interest income for the year ended December 31, 2005 was $12,507, as compared to $12,624 for year ended December 31, 2004.

Interest Expense

Interest expense for the year ended December 31, 2005 was $84,985, as compared to $94,039 for the year ended December 31, 2004. The decrease of $9,054 was attributable to having an average lower debt balance of approximately $1,279,468 for the year ended December 31, 2005 as compared to $1,783,342 for the year ended December 31, 2004. This decrease was partially offset by increases in interest rates as the weighted average prime rate increased to 6.4% for the year ended December 31, 2005 versus 4.6% for the same period of the prior year.

Net Income

As a result of the factors noted above, for the year ended December 31, 2005 our net income was $1,108,278, as compared to a net income of $44,021 for the year ended December 31, 2004. This resulted in basic earnings per share of $0.19 on weighted average common shares outstanding of 5,739,398 for the year ended December 31, 2005, as compared to basic earnings per share of $0.01 on weighted average common shares outstanding of 5,411,964 for the year ended December 31, 2004.

Liquidity and Capital Resources

As of December 31, 2005, we had cash and cash equivalents of $2,177,686, versus $3,154,972 as of December 31, 2004. This decrease is primarily attributable to the acquisition of Securus, Inc in October 2005, in the net amount of $1,110,000. We have a revolving loan facility of $4,000,000 with Hudson United Bank that matures in May 2007. The amount available under the revolving credit facility was approximately $4,000,000, as of December 31, 2005. Our working capital was $10,302,321 as of December 31, 2005. We have total short-term debts due of approximately $296,666 and purchase orders with our vendors to fulfill customer orders of approximately $4,402,000.

During the year ended December 31, 2005, net cash provided by operations was $999,808. We purchased property and equipment of $202,240 and used $690,326 in cash from financing activities. In addition, the company utilized $1,110,000 of net cash to acquire Securus, Inc. in 2005.

Our capital requirements have grown substantially as a result of the growth of our operations and staffing since our public offering. Our cash and cash equivalents have decreased by $977,286 during the year ended December 31, 2005, we believe that our current cash and available lines of credit should be sufficient to meet our capital requirements for the next twelve months. However, we may seek additional equity and /or debt financing to grow our operations.

Critical Accounting Policies

The Company's consolidated financial statements have been prepared in conformity with generally accepted accounting principles in the United States of America, which requires management to make estimates and assumptions that affect the reported amounts of assets and liabilities and disclosure of contingent assets and liabilities, at the date of the financial statements and the reported amount of revenues and expenses during the reporting period. Actual results could differ from those estimates. Management uses its best judgment in valuing these estimates and may, as warranted, solicit external professional advice. The following critical accounting policies, some of which are impacted significantly by judgments, assumptions and estimates, affect the Company's consolidated financial statements.

Revenue Recognition

Edgar Filing: Henry Bros. Electronics, Inc. - Form 10KSB

Revenue from a project integration in either the Integration or Specialty segments are recognized on the percentage of completion method, whereby revenue and the related gross profit are determined based upon the actual costs incurred to date for the project to the total estimated project costs to complete. Project costs generally include all material and shipping costs, the Company's direct labor, subcontractor costs and an allocation of indirect costs related to the direct labor. Changes in the project scope, site conditions, staff performance and delays or problems with the equipment used on the project can result in increased costs that may not be billable or accepted by the customer and results in a loss or lower profit from what was originally anticipated at the time of the proposal.

Estimates for the costs to complete the project is continuously updated by management during the performance of the project. Provision for changes in estimated costs and losses, if any, on uncompleted projects are made in the period in which such losses are determined. In general, we determine a project to be substantially completed after:

1. The scope of work is completed which includes installing the equipment as required in the contract.
2. System is functional and has been tested.
3. Training has been provided.

The majority of the Company's projects are completed within a year. Revenue from product sales are recognized when title and risk of loss passes to the customer.

Service contracts, which are generally separate and distinct agreements from project agreements, are billed either monthly or quarterly on the last day of the month covered by the contract. Accordingly, revenue from service contracts are recognized ratably over the length of the agreement. In 2004 and 2005, the company did not bundle any significant service contracts with our systems installation work.

The Emergency Preparedness Planning Programs division provides emergency planning services to commercial real estate owners and managers. In general, project labor is the predominant cost associated with the completion of these projects. The company utilizes labor as the output measure in order to recognize revenue and believes this to be an accurate matching of costs and revenue.

Trade Receivables and Allowance for Doubtful Accounts

Trade receivables are stated at net realizable value. This value includes an appropriate allowance for estimated uncollectible accounts. The allowance is evaluated on a regular basis by management and is based upon historical experience with the customer, the aging of the past due amounts and the relationship with and economic status of our customers. The evaluation is based upon estimates taking into account the facts and circumstances at the time of the evaluation. Our trade receivables are not collateralized.

Inventory Valuation

Edgar Filing: Henry Bros. Electronics, Inc. - Form 10KSB

Inventories are stated at the lower of cost or market value. Cost has been determined using the first-in, first-out method. Inventory quantities on-hand are regularly reviewed, and where necessary, reserves for excess and obsolete inventories are recorded

Warranty

The Company offers warranties on all products, including parts and labor that range from one year to three years depending upon the type of product concerned. For products made by others, the Company passes along the manufacturer's warranty to the end user.

Intangible Assets

The Company's intangible assets include goodwill and other intangibles that consist of the fair value of acquired customer lists, service contracts acquired, trade names, and covenants not to compete. Goodwill represents the excess of purchase price over fair value of net assets acquired.

Effective January 1, 2002, the company adopted the provisions of Statement of Financial and Accounting Standards (SFAS) 142 "Goodwill and Other Intangible Assets". In accordance with that statement goodwill and intangible assets with indefinite lives are not amortized, but are tested at least annually for impairment. Prior to January 1, 2002, the company had not recorded goodwill or other intangible assets of indefinite lives. Intangible assets with estimable useful lives, consisting primarily of acquired customer lists, service contracts and covenants not to compete are amortized on a straight-line basis over their estimated useful lives of three to fifteen years and are reviewed for impairment whenever events or changes in circumstances indicate that the carrying amount of an asset or asset group may not be recoverable. If the intangible asset's remaining useful life is changed, the intangible asset will be amortized over the remaining useful life. If the asset being amortized is determined to have an indefinite useful life, the asset will be tested for impairment. The impairment test will consist of measuring its fair value with its carrying amount. If the carrying amount of the intangible assets exceeds its fair value, an impairment loss is recognized for an amount equal to the excess and the adjusted carrying amount is recognized as its new accounting basis

Goodwill

The Company's goodwill impairment test is based on a two part procedure consistent with the requirements of SFAS 142. The first test consists of determining the fair value of the reporting unit and comparing it to the carrying value of the reporting unit. If the carrying value of the reporting unit exceeds the fair value of the reporting unit, a second test is performed. In step two, the implied fair value of the goodwill (which is the excess of the fair value of the reporting unit over the fair value of the net assets) is compared to the carrying value of the goodwill. An impairment loss is recognized for any excess value of goodwill over the implied value. We determined the Company's reporting unit by analyzing geographic region as management evaluates the Company's performance in this manner. We identified five separate and distinct operating units for the testing requirements of SFAS 142. We evaluate each reporting unit for impairment.

Edgar Filing: Henry Bros. Electronics, Inc. - Form 10KSB

Income Taxes

Deferred taxes are provided on an asset and liability method whereby deferred tax assets are recognized for deductible temporary differences and operating loss carry forwards and deferred tax liabilities are recognized for taxable temporary differences. Temporary differences are the differences between the reported amounts of assets and liabilities and their tax basis. Deferred tax assets are reduced by a valuation allowance when, in the opinion of management, it is more likely than not that some portion or all of the deferred tax assets will not be realized. Deferred tax assets and liabilities are adjusted for the effects of changes in tax laws and rates on the date of enactment.

Edgar Filing: Henry Bros. Electronics, Inc. - Form 10KSB

(b) Change in Internal Controls over Financial Reporting

As required by Rule 13a-15(d), the Company's executive management including the Chief Executive Officer, the Chief Operating officer and the Chief Financial Officer, also conducted an evaluation of the Company's internal controls over financial reporting to determine whether any change occurred during the Company's last fiscal quarter that has materially affected, or is reasonably likely to materially affect, the Company's internal controls over financial reporting. Notes to the Consolidated Financial Statements

NATURE OF OPERATIONS

Henry Bros. Electronics, Inc., (the "Company") and its subsidiaries, are divided into two business segments - Security System Integration ("Integration") and Specialty Products and Services. The Integration segment provides design, installation and support services for a wide variety of security, communications and control systems. The Company specializes in turnkey systems that integrate many different technologies. Systems are customized to meet the specific needs of its customers. In October 2005 the Company acquired Securus, Inc. a provider of security system integration with offices in Denver and Colorado Springs Colorado. The Specialty Products and Services segment ("Specialty") includes the Company's digital mobile recording business, Viscom Products, Inc. and its emergency preparedness planning programs business. In April 2004, the Company acquired Airorlite Communications, Inc. ("Airorlite") which is included within the Specialty segment. Airorlite specializes in designing, manufacturing and maintaining wireless communications equipment used to enhance and extend emergency radio frequency services and cellular communication for both fixed and mobile applications. Each of the Company's segments markets nationwide with an emphasis in the New Jersey/New York, Southern California, Dallas, Phoenix and Denver metropolitan areas. Customers are primarily medium and large businesses and governmental agencies. The Company derives a majority of its revenues from project installations and to a smaller extent, maintenance service revenue. The table below shows revenue percentage by geographic location for the years ended December 31:

1. SUMMARY OF SIGNIFICANT ACCOUNTING POLICIES

Principles of Consolidation - The consolidated financial statements include the accounts of the Company and its subsidiaries. All material intercompany transactions have been eliminated in consolidation.

F-6

HENRY BROS. ELECTRONICS, INC. AND SUBSIDIARIES

Revenue Recognition - Revenue from a project integration in either the Integration or Specialty segments are recognized on the percentage of completion method, whereby revenue and the related gross profit are determined based upon the actual costs incurred to date for the project to the total estimated project costs to complete. Project costs generally include all material and shipping costs, the Company's direct labor, subcontractor costs and an allocation of indirect costs related to the direct labor. Changes in the project scope, site conditions, staff performance and delays or problems with the equipment used on the project can result in increased costs that may not be billable or accepted by the customer and results in a loss or lower profit from what was originally anticipated at the time of the proposal.

Estimates for the costs to complete the project are continuously updated by management during the performance of the project. Provision for changes in estimated costs and losses, if any, on uncompleted projects are made in the period in which such losses are determined. In general, we determine a project to be substantially completed after:

1. The scope of work is completed which includes installing the equipment as required in the contract.
2. System is functional and has been tested.
3. Training has been provided.

The majority of the Company's projects are completed within a year. Revenue from product sales are recognized when title and risk of loss passes to the customer.

Service contracts, which are generally separate and distinct agreements from project agreements, are billed either monthly or quarterly on the last day of the month covered by the contract. Accordingly, revenue from service contracts are recognized ratably over the length of the agreement. In 2004 and 2005, the company did not bundle any significant service contracts with our systems installation work.

The Emergency Preparedness Planning Programs division provides emergency planning services to commercial real estate owners and managers. In general, project labor is the predominant cost associated with the completion of these projects. The company utilizes labor as the output measure in order to recognize revenue and believes this to be an accurate matching of costs and revenue.

Use of Estimates - The preparation of financial statements, in conformity with generally accepted accounting principles in the United States, requires management to make estimates and assumptions that affect the reported amounts of assets and liabilities and the disclosure of contingent assets and liabilities, at the date of the financial statements and the reported amount of revenues and expenses during the reporting period. Actual results could differ from those estimates.

Revenue and costs relating to security integration systems projects and service agreements are particularly affected by management's estimates. The contract sale price and estimated costs are based upon the facts and circumstances known at the time of the proposal. Estimates for the costs to complete the contract is continuously updated during the performance of the contract. Unpredictable events can occur during the performance of the contract that can increase the costs and reduced the estimated gross profit. Change orders to record additional costs may not be approved or can become subject to long negotiations with the customer and can result in concessions by the Company. Considerable judgments are made during the performance of the contract that affects the Company's revenue recognition and cost accruals that may have a significant impact on the results of operations reported by the Company.

Cash Equivalents - The Company considers highly liquid instruments with original maturity of three months or less to be cash equivalents.

Trade Receivables - Trade receivables are stated at net realizable value. This value includes an appropriate allowance for estimated uncollectible accounts. The allowance is evaluated on a regular basis by management and is based upon historical experience with the customer, the aging of the past due amounts and the relationship with and economic status of our customers. The evaluation is based upon estimates taking into account the facts and circumstances at the time of the evaluation. Our trade receivables are not collateralized.

Inventories - Inventories are stated at the lower of cost or market value. Cost has been determined using the first-in, first-out method. Inventory quantities on-hand are regularly reviewed, and where necessary, reserves for excess and obsolete inventories are recorded.

Edgar Filing: Henry Bros. Electronics, Inc. - Form 10KSB

Property and Equipment - Property and equipment are recorded at cost, net of accumulated depreciation. Depreciation is computed on a straight-line basis over estimated useful lives of five to seven years. Leasehold improvements are amortized over the shorter of related lease term or the estimated useful lives. Upon retirement or sale, the costs of the assets disposed of and the related accumulated depreciation are removed from the accounts and any resulting gain or loss is included in the determination of income. Repairs and maintenance costs are expensed as incurred. Annually, the Company routinely reviews its property and equipment for impairment, and accordingly, will write-down those assets to their estimated fair value.

Intangible Assets - The Company's intangible assets include goodwill and other intangibles that consist of the fair value of acquired customer lists, service contracts acquired, trade names, and covenants not to compete. Goodwill represents the excess of purchase price over fair value of net assets acquired.

Effective January 1, 2002, the company adopted the provisions of Statement of Financial and Accounting Standards (SFAS) 142 "Goodwill and Other Intangible Assets". In accordance with that statement goodwill and intangible assets with indefinite lives are not amortized, but are tested at least annually for impairment. Prior to January 1, 2002, the company had not recorded goodwill or other intangible assets of indefinite lives. Intangible assets with estimable useful lives, consisting primarily of acquired customer lists, service contracts and covenants not to compete are amortized on a straight-line basis over their estimated useful lives of three to fifteen years and are reviewed for impairment whenever events or changes in circumstances indicate that the carrying amount of an asset or asset group may not be recoverable. If the intangible asset's remaining useful life is changed, the intangible asset will be amortized over the remaining useful life. If the asset being amortized is determined to have an indefinite useful life, the asset will be tested for impairment. The impairment test will consist of measuring its fair value with its carrying amount. If the carrying amount of the intangible assets exceeds its fair value, an impairment loss is recognized for an amount equal to the excess and the adjusted carrying amount is recognized as its new accounting basis. The company recorded an impairment charge of approximately $45,000 and $77,000 for the write down of customer lists and service contract rights for the years ended December 31, 2005 and December 31, 2004, respectively.

Goodwill - The Company's goodwill impairment test is based on a two part procedure consistent with the requirements of SFAS 142. The first test consists of determining the fair value of the reporting unit and comparing it to the carrying value of the reporting unit. If the carrying value of the reporting unit exceeds the fair value of the reporting unit, a second test is performed. In step two, the implied fair value of the goodwill (which is the excess of the fair value of the reporting unit over the fair value of the net assets) is compared to the carrying value of the goodwill. An impairment loss is recognized for any excess value of goodwill over the implied value. We determined the Company's reporting unit by analyzing geographic region as management evaluates the Company's performance in this manner. We identified five separate and distinct operating units for the testing requirements of SFAS 142. In 2005 and

2004, no charges to operations resulted from management's goodwill impairment evaluation.

Concentrations of Credit Risk - Financial instruments that potentially subject the Company to concentrations of credit risk consist primarily of cash, cash equivalents and accounts receivable. As of December 31, 2005, the Company had cash balances at certain financial institutions in excess of federally insured limits. However, the Company does not believe that it is subject to unusual credit risk beyond the normal credit risk associated with commercial banking relationships.

Credit risk is generally diversified due to the large number of customers that make up the Company's customer base and their geographic dispersion resulting from three acquisitions in 2002. The Company performs an ongoing credit evaluation of its customers. In 2005 billings to one customer represented 15% of the Company's consolidated revenue or 16% of revenue from the Integration segment. Revenues to local government agencies were 39% and 20% of total revenue for the years ended December 31, 2005 and 2004, respectively.

There are a few vendors from whom we obtain devices and software for specific access control, imaging, remote transmission, smart key and mobile applications. The loss of any one of these companies as suppliers could have a materially adverse impact on our business, financial condition and results of operations if we are unable to develop or acquire new technologies from other sources. We believe there are alternative vendors to source such products.

Timely vendor deliveries of equipment meeting our quality control standards from all suppliers are also important to our business because each installed system requires the integration of a variety of elements to be fully functional. The failure to deliver any component when required, in operating condition, can delay the project, triggering contract penalties, delay in progress payments and may result in cancellation of the project.

Income Taxes - Deferred taxes are provided on the asset and liability method whereby assets and liabilities are recognized for taxable temporary differences. Temporary differences are the differences between the amounts reported for financial statement purposes and corresponding amounts for tax purposes. Deferred tax assets are reduced by a valuation allowance when, in the opinion of management, it is more likely than not that some portion or all of the deferred tax assets will not be realized. Deferred tax assets and liabilities are adjusted for the effects of changes in tax laws and rates on the date of enactment.

Fair Value of Financial Instruments - The carrying amounts of the Company's financial instruments, which include cash equivalents, accounts receivable, accounts payable, accrued expenses, short and long-term debt, approximate their fair values as of December 31, 2005.

Advertising Costs - The Company expenses advertising cost when the advertisement occurs. Total advertising expenses amounted to approximately

Edgar Filing: Henry Bros. Electronics, Inc. - Form 10KSB

$40,346 and $44,466 for the years ended December 31, 2005 and 2004, respectively.

Stock Based Compensation - In December 2002, the FASB issued SFAS No. 148 "Accounting for Stock Based Compensation - Transition and Disclosure". SFAS No. 148 provides alternative methods of transitions to SFAS No 123's fair value method of accounting for stock based employee compensation, but does not require companies to use fair value method. It also amends the disclosure provisions of SFAS No. 123 and APB No.25 to require, in the summary of significant policies, the effect of an entity's accounting policy with respect to stock based employee compensation on reported net income and earnings per share in annual and interim financial statements. The provision of this statement is effective for fiscal years ending after December 15, 2002, and interim reporting periods beginning after December 15, 2002. Accordingly, the fair value of all options granted on and after January 1, 2003 is to be charged against income over the vesting period. In 2005, the company charged $191,106 to operations for the fair value of those options granted subsequent to January 1, 2003. Those issued prior to adoption are accounted for under the intrinsic value method in accordance with APB No. 25. The Company adopted the perspective method as permitted by SFAS No. 148 on January 1, 2003.

Warranty - The Company offers warranties on all products, including parts and labor that ranges from one to three years, depending upon the product. For products made by others, the Company passes along the manufacturer's warranty to the end user. The Company charges operations with warranty expenses as incurred. For the years ended December 31, 2005 and 2004, warranty expense was approximately $49,231 and $152,500, respectively.

Net Income Per Share - The computation of basic earnings per share is based upon the weighted average number of shares of common stock outstanding during the period. The computation of diluted earnings per share includes the dilutive effects of common stock equivalents of options and warrants.

Segment Information - FASB issued Statement of Financial Accounting Standards No. 131, "Disclosure about Segments of an Enterprise and Related Information" ("Statement 131"), that establish standards for the reporting by public business enterprises of financial and descriptive information about reportable operating segments in annual financial statements and interim financial reports issued to shareholders. The Company has identified two operating segments in which it operates; Security Systems Integration ("Integration") and Specialty Products and services ("Specialty"). The Integration segment provides design, installation and support services for a wide variety of security, communications and control systems. The Company specializes in turnkey systems that integrate many different technologies. Systems are customized to meet the specific needs of its customers. In October 2005 the Company acquired Securus, Inc. a provider of security system integration with offices in Denver and Colorado Springs Colorado. The Specialty Products and Services segment ("Specialty") includes the Company's digital mobile recording business, Viscom Products, Inc. and its emergency preparedness planning programs business. In April 2004, the Company acquired Airorlite

Communications, Inc. ("Airorlite") which is included within the Specialty segment. Apart from preferences that may be applicable to any shares of preferred stock outstanding at the time, holders of our common stock are entitled to receive dividends ratably, if any, as may be declared from time to time by our board of directors out of funds legally available. Upon the liquidation, dissolution or winding up of the Company, the holders of common stock are entitled to receive ratably the net assets available after the payment of all liabilities and liquidation preferences on any outstanding preferred stock. At present, we have no plans to issue preferred stock in the foreseeable future.
