ORIX forecasts that it will outperform the results of the interim period (April 1-September 30, 2004) of the previous fiscal year due to the good performance of almost all segments including the Corporate Financial Services segment, Real Estate-Related Finance segment, and Real Estate segment in Japan and overseas segments, and due to a concentration of real estate sales in the first half of this fiscal year.

ORIX will announce the details of consolidated financial results for the interim period and its forecast for the fiscal year ending March 31, 2006 in its interim results announcement scheduled for November 8, 2005.
