MEMORANDUM

DATE: June 1, 2012

TO: Pentair and Tyco Flow Control Employees

FROM: Todd Gleason, President Integration & Standardization

SUBJECT: Integration & Standardization Team (IST) Update

A little over a month ago, Chairman and CEO Randy Hogan announced the formation of the Integration & Standardization Team (IST) for the upcoming merger of the Pentair and Tyco Flow Control businesses. Since that announcement, a significant amount of progress has occurred. This is the first in a regular series of communications you will receive in order to keep you informed of the progress.

While certain integration activities began immediately, the bulk of the effort started a few weeks after the initial March 28th announcement. Over the past six weeks we assembled the IST teams (see page 2), began initial planning activities and held a three day IST Leadership Kick-off Event in Minneapolis on May 16th 18. This kick-off event was attended by approximately 80 leaders from both companies as we sought to create awareness and alignment with respect to critical IST objectives which are outlined below:

- 1) Day One Readiness: First and foremost we must make certain that on Day One our businesses are not disrupted. Business continuity is critical for our customers, our shareholders and of course for you our employees.
- 2) Cost & Growth Synergies: Our goal is to achieve significant cost and growth synergies by 2015. A large portion of the expected savings should result from combining corporate structures and securing tax synergies. After the merger, we will also drive sourcing redundancy and productivity savings in every function. Additionally, as we combine the two companies, we will evaluate potential revenue growth opportunities that should result from things like increased business scale and cross-selling opportunities.
- 3) Standardization: Last but not least, we will be driving standardization across the combined organization using the Pentair Integrated Management System (PIMS) as a foundation. We will discuss PIMS in more detail in future communications. That said, as we plan standardization activities we also look forward to bolstering PIMS with some of Tyco Flow Control's leading processes. And, for business processes not incorporated in PIMS, we will be looking for the best practices across both companies to ensure those are being adopted quickly.

To manage our pursuit of these objectives, we assembled a team of talented business leaders and incorporated a strong governance model, as follows:

Steering Committee: Provides oversight and ultimate governance of the integration and standardization efforts. The steering committee comprises executive leadership from Pentair and Tyco Flow Control.

Randy Hogan, Pentair Chairman and CEO

Mike Schrock, Pentair President and COO

John Stauch, Pentair Executive Vice President & CFO

Fred Koury, Pentair, Senior Vice President, Human Resources

Angela Lageson, Pentair Senior Vice President, General Counsel and Secretary

Patrick Decker, Tyco Flow Control President

IST Program Management: Provides key leadership of IST resources and activities, ensuring we stay within budget and driving performance toward our objectives.

Todd Gleason, Pentair President of Integration & Standardization

Lee Amram, Tyco Vice President, Mergers & Acquisitions and IST Liaison

Lexy Wikenheiser, Pentair Vice President, IST Finance

JoAnn Malz, Pentair Director, IST Program Management

Eric Dettmer, Pentair Vice President, IST Human Resources

Marybeth Thorsgaard, Pentair Vice President of Communications

Edgar Filing: PENTAIR INC - Form 425

IST Key Functional Leadership: Drives activities specific to key functional areas and leads the sub-functions within each. Each Pentair functional lead has a counterpart at Tyco Flow Control.

Function	Pentair Functional Lead
Finance	Tony Sellers
Accounting	Randy Wacker
IT	Paul Samadani
Legal	Jason Stokes
Human Resources	Eric Dettmer
Ops, Sourcing & Facilities	Tom Pettit
Tax	Julie Flaherty
Treasury	Terri Scherber
Risk Management	Tom Gratz
Growth	Jerome Pedretti
Communications	Marybeth Thorsgaard
Engineering	Phil Rolchigo

In all there are approximately 50 people that are (or will be) heavily involved in key IST processes. You may be wondering what role do I play in this process? At times, you may be asked to assist or participate in integration and standardization activities. If you are, we would appreciate you helping to champion this effort by cooperating with the request or work that is needed. Please keep in mind, however, that actual integration will not begin until after closing, and prior to closing Pentair and Tyco Flow Control must continue to operate as separate businesses and to compete independently of the other.

We look forward to providing regular, timely updates so that you understand how the merger activities impact your businesses and functions.

Thank you for your support.

Transcript of Randy Hogan Video to Employees on July 20, 2012

This is truly an exciting time for all of us at Pentair. With the pending merger of Tyco Flow Control, we will be creating an even stronger company with the scale to capitalize on further growth opportunities and the ability to better serve our global customers.

I know many of you have questions. Our goal is to provide consistent, clear and updated communication to you on a regular basis. In order to do that in real time, we have launched a new microsite called Merger Me which will house all current information about the merger and integration process.

This site, which can be accessed off of The Well's home page, will contain a regularly updated list of frequently asked questions with a feedback loop. It also will feature:

Information about what's changing and, importantly, what's not changing with respect to policies, procedures and how we run our company.

Also, it will contain tools to help you stay up to date on the planned merger and the exciting opportunities ahead.

I'm asking you to take advantage of the information available here and learn about the exciting opportunity ahead for us and how you can play a role in that. I also encourage you to use the feedback feature on the site to let us know what type of additional information would be helpful, along with any specific questions you may have. We are committed to providing you with the information you need. The site is dynamic and will be updated whenever there is new information to share.

I am confident about our strategy, the power of combining these two companies, and how together, we'll be strong from the start and even stronger in the future. Check it out. There's lots to be excited about.

Thank you and win right.
