The good performance of economy has accelerated the loan market in all its segments (individuals, small, SMEs and large corporations).

In Corporations, the highest growth occurred in products leasing, working capital and real estate financing. It is worth pointing out that 90.0% of surety and guarantee operations are made with Large Corporations.

In the Individuals segment, we point out the consumption financing (vehicles, personal loan, payroll-deductible loan, credit card and CDC), rural loan and real estate loan. As of 2007, we have focused on new vehicle financing in the leasing segment, which explains the high growth levels.

Excluding sureties and guarantees and receivables from credit cards, the Loan Portfolio stood at R$139.019 billion, growing by R$37.546 billion, or 37.0% in relation to March 2007, and by R$7.712 billion or 5.9%, in this quarter.

Provision for Loan Losses (PLL) and Delinquency

The balance of the Provision for Loan Losses (PLL) was R$8.104 billion on March 31, 2008, of which R$6.950 billion are required provisions and R$1.154 billion are excess provisions.

Expenses with Provision for Loan Losses (PLL)

PLL expenses of R$1.667 billion were recorded in the quarter, an increase of R$507 million, or 43.7%, compared with 1Q07. This growth follows the evolution of the Loan Portfolio, which had a growth of R$37.546 billion, or 37.0%, in the period.

In the comparison between 1Q08 and 4Q07, PLL expenses grew by R$111 million.

Coverage Ratios and Delinquency

In the table below we show the Coverage and Delinquency Ratios of our portfolio:

	March 08	Dec 07	March 07
PLL / Loan Portfolio	5.8%	6.0%	6.7%
Loans Overdue more than 60 days / Loan Portfolio *	4.3%	4.2%	4.6%
PLL / Loans Overdue more than 60 days	137.0%	140.7%	145.0%
Loans Overdue more than 90 days / Loan Portfolio *	3.5%	3.5%	3.8%
PLL / Loans Overdue more than 90 days	166.5%	168.7%	176.7%

* Such percentages were recalculated – see page 84 of the Report on Economic and Financial Analysis.

According to our evaluation, delinquency is stable and shows a slight improvement for the forthcoming quarters. Focusing on borrowers' payment capacity by means of concession and risk management instruments is part of our routine.

We highlight the good performance of the coverage ratio (Loans Overdue More than 90 days/Loan Portfolio), which has been maintained stable during the quarters.

Deposits, Debentures and Subordinated Debt

The growth in these funding lines is shown in the following table:

	R$ million			Variation %
	Mar 08	Dec 07	Mar 07	Quarter	12 Months
Demand deposits ¹	26,680	29,420	20,708	(9.3)	28.8

Total	159,560	145,943	118,470	9.3	34.7

¹The balance of demand deposits in December 2007 was influenced by the end of the CPMF tax, which led to funds being maintained in current accounts for investment only after the tax was extinguished.

² Out of the amount paid in March 2008, R$11.269 billion was recorded for the purpose of calculation of the Capital Adequacy Ratio.

Contingent Liabilities

The balance of these liabilities is shown in the table below:

	R$ million			Variation %
	Mar 08	Dec 07	Mar 07	Quarter	12 Months
Labor Proceedings	1,560	1,492	1,241	4.6	25.7

Tax Provisions	6,609	6,311	5,649	4.7	17.0
Total	9,678	9,217	7,753	5.0	24.8

Capital

In March 2008, the Book Value of Shareholders' Equity was R$32.909 billion, while Reference Shareholders' Equity was R$43.408 billion. Accordingly, the Capital Adequacy Ratio (BIS) stood at 13.9% on a consolidated basis. Since that the minimum BIS ratio in Brazil is 11%. The Central Bank of Brazil, through Article 9 of Circular Letter 3,367, provides the option of excluding from the calculation of the Capital Adequacy Ratio all sold positions denominated in foreign currency (including the associated tax effects) taken up for the purpose of hedging investments held abroad. If Bradesco were to opt for this prerogative, the BIS ratio on March 31, 2008 would stand at 16.7% (12.6% in Tier I) and would allow an increase of around R$130 billion in the Loan Portfolio.

Unrealized Gains

Unrealized Gains, represented by the difference between the market value of assets and liabilities and their respective book values, stood at R$4.140 billion in March 2008, compared with R$3.877 billion in the same period of 2007, an increase of R$263 million (see explanatory note 32b). Compared to unrealized gains of December 2007 of R$4.709 billion, the reduction of R$569 million is mainly due to the mark-to-market of shares of Bovespa and BM&F, reflecting the market volatility in the period and the adjustment in the loan portfolio in view of the increase of the interest rate practiced in the market.

Asset Management

Bradesco's total assets under management, comprising investment funds, managed portfolios and third-party funds, rose to R$183.822 billion.

In the comparison between 1Q08 and 1Q07, the improvement of R$1.031 billion in Adjusted Financial Margin was due to:

- the increase of R$941 million in income from interest-bearing operations, with impacts of R$1.519 billion from an increase in average business volume and of R$578 million from the narrowing of spreads; and
- the increase of R$90 million in non-interest income, basically due to loan recoveries in the amount of R$54 million and higher TVM/Treasury gains.

In the comparison between 1Q08 and 4Q07, the variation of R$53 million was due to:

- the increase of R$315 million in income from interest-bearing operations, with impacts of R$421 million from an increase in average business volume and of R$106 million from the narrowing of spreads; and
- the reduction of R$262 million in non-interest income, basically due to the decline in loan recoveries in the amount of R$56 million and the lower TVM/Treasury gains in the quarter.

Financial Margin Interest:

The Financial Margin of interest-bearing operations is shown in the chart below. Note the growth in nominal terms in the quarter and margin remaining stable at 8.5% on average over the past 4 quarters.

Breakdown of Adjusted Financial Margin - Interest

The origin of Adjusted Financial Margin for interest-bearing operations is shown below. Note the importance of the relative share of loan operations, which accounted for 69% of the total in March 2008, versus 66% in the same period of 2007.

Loan Financial Margin Interest

(*) PLL + Discounts - Recoveries

- The first line shows loan interest income net of opportunity cost (basically rate of the Interbank Deposit Certificate CDI).
- The second line shows loan financial margin, i.e. loan interest income net of the losses associated with these loans, which shows consistent growth in nominal terms, with cumulative growth of 14.0% over the past 12 months. The result attests to the strength of the strategy Bradesco has adopted for granting loans.
- The third line incorporates the cost of delinquency, represented by the provision for Loan Losses (PLL) plus the discounts given in renegotiations, net of loan recoveries.

In the comparison between 1Q08 and 1Q07, the increase of R$244 million was due to:

- the growth of R$120 million in the item Income from Cards, driven by the increase of 21.1% in the card base (debit and credit), from 60.254 million to 72.971 million;
- the increase in the volume of loan operations contracted, especially to individuals, led by the products Personal Loans and Vehicles, which was the main factor in the evolution of the item Revenues from Loan Operations, with an improvement of R$58 million; and
- the increase of 21.2% in the volume of assets under management, from R$151.651 billion on March 31, 2007 to R$183.820 billion in the same period of 2008, which was the main factor in the growth of the item Fund Management, which increased by R$51 million.

In the comparison between 1Q08 and 4Q07, the reduction of R$93 million was due to:

- the realignment of fees for the current accounts charged from individuals;
- the lower revenue from loan operations due to the lowering of the loan fee (TAC);
- the lower volume of operations involving the capital markets due to the economic scenario; and
- the higher seasonal volume of credit card operations in the 4Q07.

- the increase in business volume;
- investments to improve and optimize the technological platform (IT Improvement Project); and

Coverage Ratio

In previous 12 months

The Coverage Ratio (Fee and Commission Income/Personnel Expenses + Administrative Expenses), which was showing constant improvement, declined by 1.5 p.p. against the prior quarter, basically due to the investments in the technology platform, the expansion of the customer service network and the effect of realignment of fees charged from individuals as of the first quarter of 2008.

The balance of technical provisions includes the contribution insufficiency provision (PIC), which is calculated conservatively using the American assuaged survival table AT-2000, improved by 1.5%, considering separately men and women, who have a longer life expectancy, and with a real interest rate of 4.3% per annum.

The variation in the revenues from premiums and contribution income, in the 1Q08 compared to the 4Q07, is due to a greater demand of the product because of the tax planning of Individuals income tax and also the greater investment of funds in the economy due to the Christmas bonus.

In the 1Q08, the result was positively impacted due to the fact that there was no adjustment in the provisions: Longevity, Improvement and increase in IBNR tail in the life line.

Total Technical Provisions in the 1Q08 reached R$24.2 billion in Private Pension Plans, R$25.2 billion in VGBL products and R$2.2 billion in Life and Personal Accident and others. The Portfolio of Private Pension Plan and VGBL Investments represent 40.2% of the market (source: Fenaprevi). (Market data of Feb-08).

Technical provisions in the Individual Health portfolio include provisions for the equalization of the premiums of policyholders older than 59 years from plans prior to Law 9,656/98, for the equalization of remission benefits, and for the differences between (i) the values resulting from the application to these premiums of the adjustments authorized annually by ANS and (ii) the values calculated based on the price adjustments in the industry, which encumber the average value of indemnified events. These provisions reflect the efforts of Management of the Insurance Group over the past few years to maintain a conservative provisioning policy to cover the risks inherent to the business. Thus, if current market conditions are maintained, mainly in terms of claims levels and the ability to adjust premiums for medical inflation, Bradesco believes that the current level of provisioning is adequate to cover the risks identified, in accordance with the respective technical notes.

In March 2008, Bradesco Saúde maintained a leading position in the corporate segment (Source: ANS). The number of companies that consider the Health and Dental Plans their best options for medical-hospital and dental care continue to grow. Bradesco Saúde currently has approximately 3 million clients, 2.7 million of which are in the corporate segment.

Following the acquisition of Mediservice (Administradora de Planos de Saúde), Bradesco Saúde exceeded the 3.2 million mark in number of clients, increasing its premium market share. Including Mediservice's corporate clients, Bradesco Saúde holds in its portfolio nearly half of the 100 largest employers in Brazil.

Social-Environmental Responsibility Area

Amazonas Sustentável Card: through a partnership entered into with the state of Amazonas in November 2007, in which Bradesco became one of the co-founders of Fundação Amazonas Sustentável (FAS), and as part of the commercial strategy of the Bank of the Planet, the Fundação Amazonas Sustentável Credit Card was launched. It is the first card in the Brazilian market made from recycled PET bottles. The goal is that part of the revenue from the new card is donated to the FAS, which, in turn, has the main challenge to preserve the set of 31 environmental conservation units of the Amazonas, which cover 17 million hectares, where more than 8.5 thousand families live, generating several social and environmental benefits such as forest conservation and its positive impact on the climate of the planet, the valuation of biodiversity and the development of communities in a sustainable model.

Pé Quente FAS: the newest Bradesco certificated savings plan, Pé Quente Bradesco Amazonas Sustentável, donates part of its revenue to the FAS. The plan, with a monthly payment of R$20.00, gives clients an opportunity to win weekly prizes worth $50 thousand through National Lottery draws. At the end of the investment period, the plans are redeemed for 100% of the initial amount invested, adjusted by the reference interest rate (TR).

Piracicaba Nursery: in February, Bradesco, through Bradesco Capitalização and in partnership with the Fundação SOS Mata Atlântica, inaugurated the Elvira Guarda Mascarim Forest Seedling Production and Environmental Education Center in the city of Piracicaba, São Paulo state. The center provides seedlings native to the Atlantic Rainforest to restore important forest areas as part of the carbon (CO²) neutralization program of the organization and the Eco Financing program. The objective is to offset the CO² emitted by the vehicles financed by the Bank.

Sustainability Report: in March 2007, Bradesco published the edition of its Sustainability Report, which provides a series of information on the Organization's main initiatives from the economic, environmental and social standpoints, such as sustainability as it applies to finances, the environment, the relationships with stakeholders, the initiatives of Fundação Bradesco and the activities of Finasa Esportes (Finasa Sports). The report follows guidelines proposed by the Global Reporting Initiative (GRI), level A+ (which corresponds to more advanced stages) and proposes a sustainability report standard that can be used by investors, market analysts as well as other publics.

Comments from the Economic Research Department

The credit crisis in the United States remains the focus of international financial markets, while the revision of expectations for monetary policy was the main change in the domestic scenario.

The problems in the U.S. economy and financial system continued to be main drivers of the macroeconomic scenario in the first quarter. The U.S. credit crisis intensified during the quarter and gradually reversed course following the measures taken by the Federal Reserve, which implemented sharp cuts in the Fed Funds rate and a policy of providing substantial liquidity to the local financial system. The increase in Brazil country risk was due to the generalized deterioration in credit conditions. Note that the increase in country risk was relatively modest compared to other credit assets, such as the credit spreads obtained by U.S. companies.

The deterioration in the outlook for economic growth and the sharp decline interest rates in the United States resulted in generalized depreciation in the U.S. dollar against other currencies, especially the euro. Various emerging market currencies also reflected this trend of a weaker dollar.

The theory that the decline in domestic demand in the United States would to a large extent be offset by robust growth in other regions of the world, particularly Asia, has been validated. One sign of this is that despite the high volatility in the closing weeks of the quarter, the prices of the main commodities rose significantly in the period (the Reuters Commodity Research Bureau Index (CRB), which includes a wide variety of commodities, rose 7.9%) and remained at very high levels. On the one hand, this helped intensify concern with higher inflation at the global level. On the other hand, it favors the external accounts of commodity-exporting countries. In particular, the hikes in commodity prices were favorable for Brazil, resulting in upward revisions in the contribution from international prices to exports in 2008.

The main alteration on the domestic front was the change in expectations concerning monetary policy in the year. Even though current inflation and analysts' expectations remained near the 4.5% inflation target, the risks posed to the inflation environment have increased and the Central Bank has signaled preventive action.

Brazil GDP growth closed 2007 at 5.4%, with a significant expansion in investment (13.4%) and higher household consumption (6.5%). The indicators for economic activity available for the first quarter show that the expansion rate remained in an outstanding position. Consequently, we raised our forecast for GDP growth in 2008 from 4.5% to 4.8%. The expansion in credit, the higher government expenditure and, more importantly, the increase in income and employment levels should continue to support growth in household consumption. The decline in liquidity in international capital markets has not affected investment planning or availability to support strong growth in corporate investments going forward (we expect a 12% increase in gross fixed capital formation in 2008).

Consumer inflation did not show any significant deviation from expectations in the first quarter. However, the increase in commodity prices, the pressure on wholesale prices and the higher GDP growth expected in the year have led us to revise slightly upwards our forecast for IPCA inflation from 4.5% to 4.9%. The moderate deterioration in the inflation scenario combined with the signals from the Central Bank point to a more conservative stance in monetary policy. Consequently, we expect interest rates to rise over the coming months, with the Selic rate closing the year at 13.0%.
