News Release

ALLERGAN EXTENDS EXPIRATION DATE OF EXCHANGE OFFER FOR INAMED CORPORATION

IRVINE, Calif., December 16, 2005 Allergan, Inc. (NYSE: AGN) today announced that it has extended the expiration date of its exchange offer for all outstanding shares of common stock of Inamed Corporation (NASDAQ: IMDC). The exchange offer will now expire at 5:00 p.m. Eastern Time on Monday, January 9, 2006. The exchange offer was previously scheduled to expire at 12:00 midnight, Eastern Time, on Tuesday, December 20, 2005. Approximately 1,147,000 shares, or 3.2% of Inamed's outstanding common stock, were tendered as of the close of business today.

In the offer, Allergan will exchange for each outstanding share of common stock of Inamed, either $84 in cash or 0.8498 of a share of Allergan common stock, at the election of the holder. Elections of Inamed stockholders are subject to proration as described in Allergan's Form S-4 initially filed with the Securities and Exchange Commission (SEC) on November 21, 2005, and subsequently amended, so that 45% of the aggregate Inamed shares tendered will be exchanged for cash and 55% of the aggregate Inamed shares tendered will be exchanged for shares of Allergan common stock.

Allergan also announced that it has received a request for additional information, referred to as a second request, from the Federal Trade Commission, pursuant to the Hart-Scott-Rodino Antitrust Improvements Act, in connection with the transaction. The second request extends the initial 30-day waiting period under the HSR Act that expired yesterday. Allergan has been working with the Federal Trade Commission staff concerning the divestiture of Reloxin® and had anticipated the issuance of the second request as part of that process. Allergan does not expect the second request to result in a material delay in consummation of the transaction.
