CryptoLogic ends transitional year positioned for profitability

Implementation of new strategy, strong cash position and cost reductions position

CryptoLogic for a return to profitability and cash generation in 2009

March 17, 2009 (Dublin, IRELAND) CryptoLogic, a world leader in Internet casino and branded gaming software, today announced its financial results for the three months and full year ended December 31, 2008. The results reflect a transitional year in which the company's new management team repositioned CryptoLogic's business, signed 10 new customers and progressed a restructuring plan to return the company to profitability in 2009.

Full-year summary:

Launched new growth strategy and restructuring to return to profitability and cash generation in 2009, driven by Internet casino, games development and licensing to top gaming/entertainment brands

Executed an agreement for a shared poker network with GTECH Corporation's subsidiary, Boss Media AB, substantially reducing costs while improving liquidity for players: integration of all poker customers to be completed on March 19, 2009

Secured 10 new customer contracts, including 888.com, PartyGaming, BSKyB and GigaMedia

Released 34 new games, featuring big brands such as Street Fighter II, Sub-Mariner and King Kong

Revenue of $61.5 million (2007: $73.7 million), in line with market expectations

Net loss of $32.7 million (2007: net profit of $5.5 million), reflecting write downs of impaired assets, non-recurring restructuring costs and currency factors, as announced previously

Diluted loss per share of $2.55 (2007: $0.47 diluted earnings per share)

Net cash of $43.8 million (2007: $77.5 million), slightly above guidance

Q4 summary:

Revenue of $11.4 million (Q4 2007: $20.4 million)

Net loss of $26 million (Q4 2007: $4.3 million net profit) including write downs of assets and program costs, non-recurring restructuring costs, departure costs for ex-CEO, and currency factors

Diluted loss per share of $2.05 (Q4 2007: $0.36 diluted earnings per share)

Restructuring resulted in $1.4 million in cash costs and $19.2 million in non-cash charges, in line with the company's guidance

Received initial revenue from new licensing contracts signed during 2008, including 888.com

Outlook:

The company is on track to achieve its full-year 2009 guidance provided on January 15, 2009, assuming no further deterioration in economic conditions and stabilization in currency markets:

Net income in the range of $9-$10 million

$8 million revenue from 2008 customer signings

Full-year cash generation post-restructuring of $11-$13 million

Edgar Filing: CRYPTOLOGIC LTD - Form 6-K

Diluted full-year earnings per share target of $0.65-$0.71

Entered 2009 with momentum from new agreements with Warner Bros. Digital Distribution and DC Comics, Gaming Technology Solutions plc and Paramount Digital Entertainment

In the fourth quarter, we unveiled a bold strategy to refocus CryptoLogic on its core strengths and on a return to profitability in 2009, said Brian Hadfield, CryptoLogic's President and CEO. Our restructuring program is ahead of schedule. With a lower cost base, 10 new customers signed to date and a highly profitable build-once-license-often model coupled with the financial strength to weather difficult global economic conditions CryptoLogic is on track for a substantial turnaround this year.

Overview

2008 was a transitional year for CryptoLogic. The company's new management took office in late February 2008. Following a fundamental review of the business and a renewed focus on customer acquisition, CryptoLogic unveiled a new growth strategy and restructuring program in October 2008. This strategy -- now in an advanced stage of execution -- is to achieve long-term growth, sustained profitability and strong cash generation by focusing on CryptoLogic's successful hosted Internet casino business and the development and licensing of the company's highly acclaimed branded games.

Restructuring and rightsizing the business

As announced previously, CryptoLogic is implementing a plan to reduce annual operating costs by approximately $13 million through various initiatives. Approximately $8.5 million of the savings will come from a reduction in employee expenses; about $2.5 million from infrastructure and facilities downsizing, including a 75% reduction in server and office rental costs; and about $2.0 million in savings from operational efficiencies across the business.

CryptoLogic is on schedule to complete the restructuring program by the end of Q2 2009. Due to rapid and decisive action undertaken last year, the company expects to return to positive cash flow from Q2 2009.

Poker partnership cuts costs, adds liquidity

As announced in November 2008, CryptoLogic is about to integrate its Internet poker licensees with those of GTECH Corporation. The move gives CryptoLogic's poker licensees and players access to a larger network with a combined average of 15,000 active players, at a far lower cost to the company. CryptoLogic will continue to provide a full-service offering for its licensees and receive ongoing revenue from its poker customers. This integration of the network will be completed on March 19, 2009.

2008 customer signings to drive 2009 revenue growth

Edgar Filing: CRYPTOLOGIC LTD - Form 6-K

CryptoLogic significantly increased its customer acquisition activities in 2008. As a result, the company signed 10 new contracts for both hosted Internet casinos and the licensing of branded games during 2008 compared with just one in 2007. The company's new customers include 888.com, PartyGaming, GigaMedia, BSkyB Group, Orbis, The Poker Channel and Betjacks. These agreements offer significant revenue potential for 2009 and beyond, as the company expects to launch up to 30 branded games by the end of the second quarter.

In January 2009, the company further expanded its channels to market with a strategic partnership with Gaming Technology Solutions plc (GTS), a leading global supplier of platform solutions for online gaming operations. Under the agreement, CryptoLogic's top-performing games will be made available to GTS customers, which include many well-established European brands.

GTS and Orbis are major distribution channels to the e-gaming sector and are completing the integration of CryptoLogic-developed branded games into their platforms this quarter. As a result, the company is well positioned to earn revenue from these channels as they roll out CryptoLogic games to their extensive customer base.

Investing in innovation

In order to leverage its industry leadership in the development and deployment of casino games, the company has launched the CryptoLogic Centre for Innovation, where customers, partners, universities and others can participate in defining and guiding the future of e-gaming. The first game from this centre will be released in April 2009. By moving from concept to delivery in less than four months, this will be the fastest development of a game in CryptoLogic's history. As part of the new strategy, the company will unveil a new brand identity based on extraordinary e-gaming innovation, in conjunction with the company's annual report.

Net (loss)/earnings and comprehensive (loss)/income	$ (25,968)	$ 4,273	$ (32,738)	$ 5,528

Total revenue: Reflecting the trends announced previously and a period of transition from old to new business models, CryptoLogic's revenue decreased from $14.0 million in the third quarter to $11.4 million in the fourth quarter of 2008, due principally to a $1.4 million impact from the strengthening of the U.S. dollar. The numbers also reflect a weakness in wagering activity in November, followed by a recovery in December. These factors were partly offset by the initial revenue contribution from new licensees such as 888.com.

Earnings and Earnings per Diluted Share: The company recorded a loss of $26.0 million for the quarter ($2.05 per fully diluted share), due principally to $20.6 million relating to several items: the write-down of certain impaired investments, employee terminations and poker room integration costs. There were also additional costs of $1.6 million associated with the departure of the company's ex-CEO. Operating expenses were $13.3 million in the quarter compared with $16.5 million in the third quarter or largely unchanged after normalizing for losses recorded on foreign exchange in both periods.

Edgar Filing: CRYPTOLOGIC LTD - Form 6-K

Balance Sheet and Cash Flow: CryptoLogic ended the quarter with $43.8 million in net cash (comprising cash and cash equivalents, restricted cash, and security deposits), or $3.15 per diluted share. The company continues to be debt-free.

CryptoLogic's working capital at December 31, 2008 was $41.2 million or $2.97 per diluted share (September 30, 2008: $52.9 million or $3.82 per diluted share). Operating cash outflow was $4.0 million in Q4 2008.

Outlook

While the company continues to take a conservative view of top-line growth, CryptoLogic remains on track to reduce operating costs and return to profitability and cash generation in 2009. The pipeline of new business also remains robust.

In the first quarter, CryptoLogic continues to implement its new business model and restructuring program. The results will start to benefit the company's financials in the second quarter. CryptoLogic estimates an additional cash cost of up to $2.1 million related to the restructuring in the first half of 2009, in line with guidance.

For the full year, the company reiterates its previous guidance provided on January 15, 2009, subject to no further deterioration in economic conditions and stabilization in currency markets:

- Revenue of $8 million from new customer signings;
- Net profits in the range of $9-$10 million;
- Diluted earnings per share of $0.65-$0.71; and
- Full-year cash flow generation post restructuring of $11-$13 million.

CryptoLogic will hold its annual general meeting in Toronto on June 4, 2009.
