Steve Bostic Comments on Career Education Student Drop-out Rates

SEA ISLAND, Ga.--(BUSINESS WIRE)--May 17, 2006--Steve Bostic, the beneficial owner of approximately 1% of the outstanding stock of Career Education Corporation (CEC or NASDAQ: CECO), today made the following comment regarding Career Education Corporation's student drop out rates:

On May 10, 2006, I sent a letter to my fellow stockholders of Career Education Corporation (CEC) in which I noted that I had received a copy of an internal CEC report on student drop-out rates stating that 96,338 students had dropped out of CEC programs in the first quarter of the reporting period. This undated report, entitled "Q1 Drop Summary Report", was Exhibit T to a class action complaint brought by stockholders against CEC and its management in the U.S. District Court for the Northern District of Illinois. The report indicated that there were 96,388 student drop-outs over all divisions of CEC's Colleges, Schools and Universities group (CSU) and included three pages of detailed backup materials in support of that number. Having asked repeatedly for confirmation of CEC's historic and current student drop-out rates and not having received a satisfactory response, I interpreted the report to be a first quarter summary of CEC's student drop-outs. A copy of the entire Exhibit T to the class action complaint is attached to this press release.

On May 16, 2006, I received a letter from the Board of Directors of CEC advising me that the report in question was produced for the first quarter of 2004. The letter also advised me that while the report was indeed produced by CEC, the company subsequently decided that it contained erroneous information and revised the report, and that the revised number of CSU student drop-outs for Q1 2004 was 10,485.

I have no basis to confirm whether the original student drop-out report filed with the U.S. District Court or CEC's revised version was accurate or the reasons for CEC's decision to revise the original report. CEC has not released the revised report or any other report relating to student drop-out rates in spite of our repeated requests since the 2005 Annual Meeting. Will CEC's Board provide an explanation for the original 96,388 number and for the detailed materials supporting it, and disclose the period to which it applied? As I have done repeatedly in the past, I strongly encourage CEC to promptly produce clear, accurate and up-to-date information about student drop-out rates in the detailed format of the "Q1 Drop Summary Report", not only for Q1 2004 but for all quarters of 2003, 2004 and 2005, and not only for CSU but for all of CEC, including the Online Education Group. In addition, on behalf of all stockholders, I reiterate my appeal to the Board to become transparent and to produce clear and accurate data for student graduation rates and student placements in their field of study. This information is vital in evaluating the quality and value of CEC's operations and projecting future earnings.
