SDRL - Seadrill orders two jack-ups for delivery in 2016

Hamilton, Bermuda, July 31, 2013 - Seadrill Limited ("Seadrill" or "the Company") has entered into new contracts for the construction of two high specification jack-up drilling rigs at Dalian Shipbuilding Industry Offshore Co., Ltd. (DSIC Offshore) in China. The newbuild rigs are scheduled for delivery during the second and third quarters of 2016, and the total project price per rig is approximately US$230 million (including project management, capitalized interest, drilling and handling tools, spares and operation preparations), with tail-heavy payment terms.

The two new units will be based on the F&G JU2000E design, with water depth capacity of 400ft and drilling depth of 30,000ft. Seadrill now has in total ten jack-ups under construction at DSIC Offshore of which two are scheduled for delivery in 2013, five in 2015 and three in 2016.

Seadrill's construction program now totals 24 units, including 9 drillships, 2 harsh environment semi-submersibles, and 13 high specification jack-ups. In addition the Company has fixed priced options for two ultra-deepwater units.

The Board of Seadrill is of the opinion that the premium jack-up segment continues to provide a compelling investment thesis. The global jack-up market is at an inflection point as approximately 60% of the global contracted fleet is built before 1993. Almost 100 newbuild jack-ups have been delivered since 2005. However in the last two years we have seen increased utilization and the number of stacked rigs decline to multi-year lows. Utilization rates have exceeded 90% while average dayrates, unmet demand and average contract lengths have all increased.

Newbuild activity has increased in response to the industry's calls for additional demand and more capable units. We are of the opinion that the current orderbook falls well short of adequately supplying oil company needs going forward. Currently, the orderbook stands at approximately 115 units of which approximately 50% are not competitive on a global basis. Most of these uncompetitive units are either low specification or destined for markets with regional factors that will limit their global mobility.

Tender activity continues to be robust with a significant increase over the last six months. We have experienced increased inquiries primarily in Latin America, the Middle East, and West Africa. Our customers continue to shift their focus toward higher specification jack-up rigs and the benefits in terms of efficiency and safety that these units deliver. Not only are operators high-grading their fleet for the short term, but also increasing the duration of contracts, a trend which speaks to the scarcity value of high specification units.

Seadrill is currently in specific discussions about long term chartering for several of our jack-ups. These discussions confirm a stronger day rate environment as well as longer contracting terms.

Per Wulff, CEO of Seadrill Ltd. says in a comment, "Seadrill has focused its' newbuild activity on the high end of all asset classes since the Company's inception in 2005. High specification units have historically commanded the highest dayrates and utilization rates and we fully expect this trend to continue. The market for high specification jack-up units is poised for a significant uplift in dayrates and we continue to invest in order to put Seadrill's shareholders in a prime position to benefit.

Edgar Filing: SEADRILL LTD - Form 6-K

Seadrill's competitive advantage not only resides in its' assets, but also in its' demonstrated safety and operational and track records and the ability to win repeat business from industry leading customers. We are confident these factors, along with continued fleet growth, will contribute to our industry leading returns and ability to grow the dividend."

SDRL - Seadrill and North Atlantic Drilling announce strategic partnership

Hamilton, Bermuda, August 15, 2013 - North Atlantic Drilling Ltd. ("NADL" or the "Company") and Seadrill Limited ("Seadrill") announced in their first quarter 2013 reports that the companies were actively engaged in discussions with potential strategic partners in order to strengthen NADL's position in harsh environment areas.

The basis for the establishment of NADL in 2011 was to carve out a premium specialist operator with a superior safety standard in harsh environment areas and to use this as a platform to grow the business substantially. NADL builds on a 40-year history of drilling operations and a best-in-class track record in challenging areas. The recent discoveries and activities in harsh environment areas like Norway, Northern part of the UK, North Canada and Alaska, Greenland, Arctic and Northern and Far East part of Russia strongly confirm this growth opportunity. The supply and demand balance for these markets looks tight considering that very few suitable new units are to be delivered in the next years. It is likely that this new capacity is insufficient to meet what is expected to be a very high growth in demand for drilling activities.

The boards of Seadrill and NADL have in this respect focused on further strengthening the foothold for future operations in new offshore frontiers, including the emerging Arctic and sub-Arctic harsh environment areas in the Northern hemisphere. Particular focus has been placed on pursuing business in the promising Russian offshore sector.

NADL and Seadrill are pleased to announce that a preliminary agreement to create a strategic partnership with a strong industrial player has been reached to foster growth of the company's harsh environment business. The potential strategic partner has a strong foothold in the Russian market, vast experience and competence in Arctic operations, including unique expertise in ice management. The partnership brings together organisations with complimentary skillsets well positioned to capture growth, building on their respective experience and know-how and creating new industrial synergies.

The potential strategic partner will initially purchase a substantial minority stake in NADL from Seadrill priced around current market levels. Further the partner will be granted an option to acquire a majority stake at a later stage at a premium to the current market levels. Signing and closing of the transaction is expected within the third quarter of 2013. Both Seadrill and the potential strategic partner strongly support an immediate US-listing of NADL post closing of the first part of the transaction.

The Company's operations in Stavanger will continue as today and will focus on the current operations and future growth. The strategic partnership is likely to entail opening up of other regional offices to serve local growth in demand. Overall activity level is expected to increase and provide employees with attractive opportunities.

Seadrill is fully committed to remaining a long term shareholder and partner in NADL. The board is confident that the agreed partnership structure will strengthen NADL as the leading pure play harsh environment drilling company and position it uniquely to increase the value for all of the Company's shareholders and make it an even more attractive workplace for the employees.

It is Seadrill's intention that parts of the proceeds it will receive from the first phase of the transaction will be used to purchase shares in the open market in order to re-increase its ownership in NADL. The remaining proceeds will be used to fund existing and new growth opportunities within Seadrill's global ultra-deepwater and premium jack-up businesses and might also be used to support Seadrill's share of further growth in NADL.

Seadrill has since January 1, 2013 committed approximately US$5 billion in acquisitions and newbuild orders. Based on these investments Seadrill expects high growth in earnings and dividend capacity in the years to come. The Boards of Seadrill and NADL will continue to look for further strategic opportunities with a target to better position our companies for future business.

NADL is an offshore harsh environment drilling company with focus on the North Atlantic basin. The company has nine drilling units in the fleet, including five semi-submersible, a drillship, and three jack-up rigs. Seadrill Limited currently owns 74% of the outstanding shares and the company is listed on the Norwegian OTC exchange with a market capitalization of approximately US$2.3 billion.

This information is subject of the disclosure requirements pursuant to section 5-12 of the Norwegian Securities Trading Act.

SDRL - Partnership discussions on hold, filing for NYSE listing

Hamilton, Bermuda, October 11, 2013 - North Atlantic Drilling Ltd. ("NADL" or the "Company") and Seadrill Limited ("Seadrill") announced on August 15, 2013 that the companies were actively engaged in specific discussions with the potential to bring in a strategic partner as a major owner in NADL. The parties have made solid progress in these discussions but have not yet been able to find a mutually acceptable solution to all transaction parameters, including treatment of minority shareholders.

In view of the commitment NADL has given to its shareholders to list the company, Seadrill has decided to put the current discussions on hold and NADL will proceed with an independent listing on NYSE. The Company expects to file with the SEC during the fourth quarter and proceed with the offering in due course following the SEC review process.

The recent discoveries in the Barents Sea and Newfoundland by OMV, Lundin and Statoil have further highlighted the attractiveness of the harsh environment market. In order to position the fleet to meet this new market NADL is presently in final discussions with Jurong shipyard in order to upgrade the newbuilding West Rigel to meet full year drilling operations in Arctic waters.

Seadrill remains fully committed as long term shareholder in NADL and believes that establishing NADL as an independently listed and financed entity is an important strategic goal. The Board will continue to look for strategic partnerships which can strengthen the company's Arctic experience and market position with the target to create additional value for all shareholders.

NADL is an offshore harsh environment drilling company with focus on the North Atlantic basin. The company has nine drilling units in the fleet, including five semi-submersible, a drillship, and three jack-up rigs. Seadrill Limited currently owns 74% of the outstanding shares and the company is traded on the Norwegian OTC list with a market capitalization of approximately US$2.3 billion.
