The following letter was distributed by Stewart Information Services Corporation on March 19, 2018.

Greetings to our Stewart Trusted Providers,

Today we announced that Stewart has entered into an agreement and plan of merger with Fidelity National Financial (FNF), a leading provider of title insurance and transaction services to the real estate and mortgage industries.

You will recall that our Board of Directors initiated a comprehensive review of strategic alternatives last year. After an extensive review process, the Board determined this transaction is the value-maximizing alternative for our shareholders. The transaction also affords Stewart shareholders the opportunity to benefit from FNF's exceptional financial and operating platform in support of the Stewart brand and services for our customers. You can view today's press release here

(<https://www.businesswire.com/news/home/20180319005398/en/Stewart-Announces-Agreement-Acquired-Fidelity-National-F>)

It is important to note that today is just the first step in the process of combining our two companies. Your Agency representative and points of contact at Stewart will not change, nor will our continued commitment to serving you and your clients.

Stewart and FNF will continue to operate independently until the transaction is closed, which we expect to happen in the first or second quarter of 2019. As with most transactions of this nature, the agreement is subject to approval by Stewart's shareholders and regulatory authorities and the satisfaction of customary closing conditions.

We will keep you informed along the way as any new developments transpire. Until then, and as always, you are a valued customer, and you remain an integral part of Stewart's continued success.

If you have any questions, please feel free to contact me or reach out to your Stewart Representative.

Thanks for continuing to choose Stewart.

Forward-Looking Statements

This communication contains forward-looking statements within the meaning of the Private Securities Litigation Reform Act of 1995 including, but not limited to, Fidelity National Financial, Inc.'s ("FNF") and Stewart Information Services Corporation's ("Stewart") expectations or predictions of future financial or business performance conditions. All statements other than statements of historical or current fact included in this communication that address activities, events, conditions or developments that we expect, believe or anticipate will or may occur in the future are forward-looking statements. You can generally identify forward-looking statements by the use of forward-looking terminology such as "anticipate," "believe," "can," "continue," "could," "estimate," "evaluate," "expect," "forecast," "guidance," "intend," "likely," "may," "might," "outlook," "plan," "potential," "predict," "probable," "project," "s" or "will," or the negative thereof or other variations thereon or comparable terminology. Forward looking statements give our current expectations and projections relating to our financial conditions, result of operations, plans, objectives, future performance and business and these statements are not guarantees of future performance. Because such statements are based on expectations as to future financial and operating results and are not statements of fact, actual results may differ materially from those projected. Neither FNF nor Stewart assumes any duty to update or revise any forward-looking statements, whether as a result of new information, future events or otherwise, as of any future date. The risks and uncertainties which forward-looking statements are subject to include, but are not limited to: changes in general economic, business and political conditions, including changes in the financial markets; weakness or adverse changes in the level of real estate activity, which may be caused by, among other things, high or increasing interest rates, a limited supply of mortgage funding or a weak U. S. economy; our potential inability to find suitable acquisition candidates, acquisitions in lines of business that will not necessarily be limited to our traditional areas of focus, or difficulties in integrating acquisitions; our dependence on distributions from our title insurance underwriters as a main source of cash flow; significant competition that our operating subsidiaries face; compliance with extensive government regulation of our operating subsidiaries; the risk that Stewart shareholders may not adopt the merger agreement; the risk that our stockholders may not adopt the merger agreement; the risk that the necessary regulatory approvals may not be obtained or may be obtained subject to conditions that are not anticipated; risks that any of the closing conditions to the proposed merger may not be satisfied in a timely manner; the risk that the businesses will not be integrated successfully, that such integration may be more difficult, time-consuming or costly than expected or that the expected benefits of the acquisition will not be realized; and other risks detailed in the risk factors discussed in "Item 1.A. Risk Factors" in FNF's and Stewart's most recent Annual Reports on Form 10-K, as updated by any Quarterly Reports on Form 10-Q, Current Reports on Form 8-K and future filings with the Securities and Exchange Commission ("SEC").
