Dear Arby's Family,

We continue to make good progress on the many activities that will support the success of the planned merger between Wendy's and Arby's. In this update, we'd like to share a few highlights of the work underway and an overview of recent accomplishments.

First, let me say that we know many people are anticipating decisions regarding the future state of our organization. We are working together to build a shared understanding of the current state of our respective organizations, clarify the compelling vision for our future together, and make the organization structure and staffing decisions for our future company.

Part of this work is a "Current State Analysis" that we are developing with help from our consultants at KPMG. This work is being completed now and documents the current roles, responsibilities, and major processes in both organizations. KPMG conducted 93 "Discovery Meetings" with Wendy's and Arby's employees and reviewed hundreds of documents. We'd like to thank everyone involved for your extraordinary effort to fulfill our requests for information in a very short timeframe. That we have been able to complete the "Current State Analysis" in a few short weeks is a testament to the tremendous expertise and focus we have in both organizations.

The “Current State Analysis” will form the foundation for the new organizational structure. We are starting this work now and expect that it will take approximately six weeks. Our overall approach to the organization concept has not changed. We will continue to have two independent and robust brand organizations – one for Wendy’s in Dublin, and one for Arby’s in Atlanta – each focused on building on the heritage and strengths of their unique brands. A corporate office in Atlanta will be created with shared services that will support both brand organizations.

When the organization design is approved, we will share it with all employees. Decisions with regard to the location of jobs, the timing of any movement of jobs, and the process for placing internal candidates into jobs that may be new or open will be shared with you as well. We know that everyone is anxious to know this information as quickly as possible. We are working diligently with that in mind, while still ensuring we exercise the due diligence and care required to align our resources with the great opportunities we will have in the future.

Great care is also being taken to ensure we are ready for “Day 1” of our new organization. A readiness plan has been developed and is being tracked. The hundreds of tasks on the plan are being completed by members of both Wendy’s and Arby’s Finance, Tax, Accounting, and IT departments – critical functions that will need to operate within new corporate regulatory and security frameworks beginning with our very first day of operations.

Overseeing all of these activities is the Integration Steering Committee, comprised of members from both Wendy’s and Arby’s. The current Committee members are listed at the end of this message. The role of the Integration Steering Committee is to provide input, direction, and approvals on key integration activities. The frequency of meetings is ramping up as our integration work is gaining momentum.

Based on your feedback, the frequency of our communication is also going to ramp up. While we may not always have a lot to report since many activities are in progress, we are committed to regular updates on the process and ensuring you have a central reference point for information on the merger on an ongoing basis. Expect more from us on that front in the coming weeks.

On the topic of communication, Roland Smith continues to reach out to both franchisees and Wendy’s employees to learn more about the brand. Since the town hall meeting in May where Roland was introduced to the Wendy’s organization, he has had several meetings with the senior leadership team, met directly with all of Kerri Anderson’s direct reports, and connected with field operation leaders. He has also met several times with the leadership and members of Wendy’s three franchisee organizations, conducted in-person meetings with over 30 franchisee leaders, and spoken with franchisees who represent over 1,500 franchised restaurants.

Starting July 9, Roland spent six days in both company and franchisee Wendy’s stores learning operations, meeting restaurant employees, and building a deeper “front line” perspective of the rich opportunities for the Wendy’s brand.

We look forward to hearing from you. Please share your views, ask your questions, and seek clarification on any issues.

Thank you for your ongoing support and focus on the business and our customers.

Best regards,

/s/ Sharron Barton

Forward-Looking Statements

Statements herein regarding the proposed transaction between Triarc and Wendy's, future financial and operating results, benefits and synergies of the transaction, future opportunities for the combined company and any other statements about future expectations constitute forward looking statements.

These forward-looking statements involve significant risks and uncertainties that could cause the actual results to differ materially from the expected results. Most of these factors are outside our control and difficult to predict. Factors that may cause such differences include, but are not limited to, the possibility that the expected synergies will not be realized, or will not be realized within the expected time period, due to, among other things: (1) changes in the quick service restaurant industry; (2) prevailing economic, market and business conditions affecting Triarc and Wendy's; (3) conditions beyond Triarc's or Wendy's control such as weather, natural disasters, disease outbreaks, epidemics or pandemics impacting Triarc's and/or Wendy's customers or food supplies or acts of war or terrorism; (4) changes in the interest rate environment; (5) changes in debt, equity and securities markets; (6) changes in the liquidity of markets in which Triarc or Wendy's participates; (7) the availability of suitable locations and terms for the sites designated for development; (8) cost and availability of capital; (9) adoption of new, or changes in, accounting policies and practices; and (10) other factors discussed from time to time in Triarc's and Wendy's news releases, public statements and/or filings with the Securities and Exchange Commission (the "SEC"), especially the "Risk Factors" sections of Triarc's and Wendy's Annual and Quarterly Reports on Forms 10-K and 10-Q, which are available at the SEC's website at <http://www.sec.gov>. Other factors include the possibility that the merger does not close, including due to the failure to receive required stockholder or regulatory approvals, or the failure of other closing conditions. Triarc and Wendy's caution that the foregoing list of factors is not exclusive.
