Q&A: Golub Capital BDC, Inc. / Golub Capital Investment Corporation Merger

1. What are the details of the announced merger?

Golub Capital BDC, Inc. (“GBDC”) and Golub Capital Investment Corporation (“GCIC”) entered into an agreement and plan of merger (the “Merger Agreement”) to merge the two companies in what is expected to create the fourth largest externally managed, publicly traded business development company (“BDC”) by assets, based on the fair value of the gross assets of GBDC and GCIC as of September 30, 2018.

Upon closing of the transactions contemplated by the Merger Agreement, GCIC will have merged into GBDC and will cease to exist as a separate company. GBDC, as the surviving entity, will continue to trade under the ticker symbol “GBDC” on The Nasdaq Global Select Market.

Each GCIC stockholder will be entitled to receive, for each share of GCIC common stock, 0.865 shares of GBDC common stock.

This fixed exchange ratio represents the acquisition of GCIC common stock at a 7.05% premium to the net asset value (“NAV”) of the GCIC common stock as of September 30, 2018, based on the closing stock price of the GBDC common stock on November 26, 2018.

- o GCIC stockholders will receive cash in lieu of fractional shares of GBDC common stock.

Upon or prior to closing, GCIC will declare a distribution to its stockholders representing any undistributed net investment income and net realized capital gain.

2. What are some of the potential benefits of the merger for GBDC and GCIC stockholders?

Premium to NAV for GCIC/Accretive to NAV for GBDC

- o Based on the closing stock price of GBDC common stock on November 26, 2018:

GCIC stockholders will receive consideration at a 7.05% premium to GCIC's NAV per share as of September 30, 2018.

The merger would be accretive to GBDC's NAV per share and would result in an increase in NAV per share of $0.59, or 3.6% based on GBDC's NAV per share as of September 30, 2018.

The transaction creates the potential for additional value creation assuming the combined company continues to trade at the same premium to NAV that GBDC has traded at, on average, over the most recent three-year period.

Increased scale and liquidity:

GCIC stockholders will receive the publicly-traded shares of GBDC as consideration for the merger resulting in a significantly larger market capitalization for GBDC following the merger.

Larger BDCs generally have improved trading liquidity and broader analyst coverage which could generate increased interest by current and potential investors, including greater institutional interest.

Combination of known, diversified portfolios of assets:

As a result of the merger, the combined company would have over $3.5 billion of assets at fair value with investments in 203 portfolio companies based on their respective holdings as of September 30, 2018.

As of September 30, 2018, over 96% of GBDC's investments at fair value were held by GCIC and over 94% of GCIC's investments at fair value were held by GBDC.

GCIC has the same investment strategy and management team as GBDC and the portfolio characteristics of the combined company will be nearly identical in terms of asset mix and diversification to both of GCICs and GBDC's current portfolios.

Greater access to long-term, low-cost and flexible debt:

- o GBDC and GCIC have comparable debt funding structures and available borrowing capacity.

o The increased scale of the combined company is expected to enable better access to the securitization market than either company would obtain on its own.

o The larger scale of the combined company could enhance its capacity to use securitizations that offer lower interest rates, longer reinvestment periods and longer terms in comparison to traditional bank facilities.

Potential for operational synergies:

o The merger is expected to create modest operational synergies as duplicative fixed costs historically borne by GCIC will be eliminated.

As a result, although certain one-time costs will be borne by GBDC and GCIC in connection with the merger, the annual operating expenses borne by each GBDC and GCIC stockholder are expected to be reduced in part due to the reduction in general and administrative expenses.

3. Will there be a meeting for GBDC and GCIC stockholders to vote on the proposals related to the merger?

GBDC and GCIC stockholders will be asked to approve proposals related to the merger at a special meeting of stockholders for each respective fund, which is currently expected to occur in the first half of calendar year 2019.

4. What vote is required by GBDC's and GCIC's stockholders to approve the merger?

For GBDC, approval of the issuance of shares of GBDC common stock pursuant to the Merger Agreement requires the affirmative vote of at least a majority of all of the votes cast at a meeting of the GBDC stockholders at which a quorum is present. A quorum is defined as the holders of a majority of the shares of GBDC's common stock outstanding on the GBDC record date, which will be disclosed in the proxy statement for the meeting. In addition, as described below, as a condition to closing of the merger, GBDC stockholders will be required to approve an amendment to the investment advisory agreement (the "New Investment Advisory Agreement") between GBDC and GC Advisors, LLC, the investment adviser to each of GBDC and GCIC ("GC Advisors"), which New Investment Advisory Agreement would be effective upon closing of the merger. This proposal will require the approval of the lesser of: (1) 67% of the shares of GBDC common stock voted at the GBDC special meeting if the holders of more than 50% of the outstanding shares of GBDC common stock are present or represented by proxy or (2) more than 50% of the outstanding shares of GBDC common stock.

For GCIC, the approval of the merger and Merger Agreement requires the affirmative vote of the holders of a majority of the outstanding shares of GCIC common stock entitled to vote at meeting of the GCIC stockholders.

5. When is the merger expected to close?

The merger is currently expected to close in the first half of calendar year 2019, subject to stockholder approval and the satisfaction of other closing conditions set forth in the Merger Agreement.

6. As an investor, what do I need to do next?

There is no immediate action necessary. Investors are urged to review documents that GBDC and GCIC file with the Securities and Exchange Commission (the “SEC”), including the registration statement on Form N-14 that GBDC intends to file with the SEC, which will contain a joint proxy statement of GBDC and GCIC and a prospectus of GBDC (the “Proxy Statement”), which will also be posted on GBDC’s website at www.golubcapitalbdc.com.

The solicitation of proxies is expected to begin in January 2019.

7. Will GBDC and GCIC incur expenses in soliciting proxies?

The expenses of the solicitation of proxies for the GBDC special meeting and the GCIC special meeting, including the cost of preparing, printing and mailing the Proxy Statement, the applicable accompanying Notice of Special Meeting of Stockholders and the proxy card, will be borne equally by GBDC and GCIC.

8. Is the merger expected to be taxable to GBDC stockholders?

No. The merger is not expected to be a taxable event for GBDC stockholders.

9. Is the merger expected to be taxable to GCIC stockholders?

No. The merger is intended to qualify as tax free for U.S. federal income tax purposes, and it is a condition to GBDC's and GCIC's respective obligations to complete the merger that each of them receives a legal opinion to that effect.

GCIC stockholders are not expected to recognize any gain or loss for U.S. federal income tax purposes on the exchange of their shares of GCIC for shares of GBDC pursuant to the merger, except with respect to cash received in lieu of fractional shares of GBDC.

Tax matters can be complicated and the tax consequences of the merger to a GCIC stockholder will depend on the particular tax situation of such stockholder. GCIC stockholders should review carefully the Proxy Statement when it becomes available for more information and details as to the tax consequences of the merger to GCIC and its stockholders. GCIC stockholders should consult with their own tax advisors to determine the tax consequences of the merger to them.

10. Will I receive dividends after the merger?

Subject to applicable legal restrictions and the sole discretion of the board of directors of GBDC, GBDC intends to continue to declare and pay regular cash distributions to its stockholders on a quarterly basis. Although the timing and amount of future distributions is not assured, based on the information currently available to the board of directors, the board of directors of GBDC presently intends to increase the regular quarterly distributions to GBDC stockholders to $0.33 per share after closing of the merger, provided that the GBDC board of directors reserves the right to revisit this intention if market conditions or GBDC's prospects meaningfully change.

11. Does GBDC's investment objective and strategy differ from GCIC's?

No. The investment objectives and strategies of GBDC and GCIC are identical. The investment objective of each of GBDC and GCIC is to generate current income and capital appreciation by investing primarily in one stop (a loan that combines characteristics of traditional first lien senior secured loans and second lien or subordinated loans) and other senior secured loans of U.S. middle-market companies. Each may also selectively invest in second lien and subordinated loans of, and warrants and minority equity securities in, U.S. middle-market companies. GBDC and GCIC each use the term "middle-market" to generally refer to companies having earnings before interest, taxes, depreciation and amortization (“EBITDA”) of less than $100.0 million annually.

12. What will be the investment advisory fees of the combined company?

GC Advisors currently serves as the investment adviser to both GBDC and GCIC. Immediately following closing of the merger, GC Advisors’ investment advisory agreement with GCIC will terminate.

GC Advisors is entitled to receive a fee from GBDC for investment advisory and management services consisting of two components – a base management fee and an incentive fee.

The base management fee is calculated and payable quarterly in arrears at an annual rate equal to 1.375% based on the average adjusted gross assets of GBDC at the end of the two most recently completed calendar quarters (including assets purchased with borrowed funds and securitization-related assets, leverage, unrealized depreciation or appreciation on derivative instruments and cash collateral on deposit with custodian but adjusted to exclude cash and cash equivalents so that investors do not pay the base management fee on such assets).

The incentive fee consists of two parts: the income component (the “Income Incentive Fee”) and the capital gains component (the “Capital Gain Incentive Fee”). The first part of the incentive fee, the Income Incentive Fee, is calculated and payable quarterly in arrears and equals 20% of the Company’s pre-incentive fee net investment income for the immediately preceding quarter. The Income Incentive Fee is subject to a hurdle rate, expressed as a rate of return on the value of GBDC’s net assets at the end of the immediately preceding calendar quarter, equal to 2.0% per quarter, or an annualized hurdle rate of 8.0%, and a catch up provision. The second component of the incentive fee, the Capital Gain Incentive Fee, is calculated and payable in arrears as of the end of each calendar year. The Capital Gain Incentive Fee equals 20% of the Company’s cumulative realized gains net of realized losses and unrealized depreciation since GBDC’s initial public offering (“IPO”).

In connection with and as a condition to closing the merger, GBDC will solicit its stockholders for approval of a proposal to amend its investment advisory agreement, which was unanimously approved by the GBDC board of directors. The new investment advisory agreement that would be effective upon closing of the merger would:

- o Adjust the income subject to the Income Incentive Fee, Capital Gain Incentive Fee and incentive fee cap to exclude any amounts resulting solely from the purchase accounting for any premium or discount paid for the acquisition of assets in a merger, such as the premium to NAV to be paid for the shares of GCIC common stock in the merger; and
- o Revise the calculation of the cap on incentive fees payable to GC Advisors into a per share calculation while maintaining the same 20% cap and look back to GBDC's IPO.
