In addition, any statements that refer to expectations, projections, or other characterizations of future events or circumstances, including any underlying assumptions, are forward-looking statements. On March 23, 2010 the Registrant entered into a share exchange agreement with the former stockholders of AudioEye, Inc. (hereinafter "AudioEye") whereby AudioEye became a wholly owned subsidiary of the Registrant subject to the former stockholders retaining the right to receive cash from the exploitation of the technology of AudioEye. The Registrant has outstanding 13% Senior Secured Convertible Extendable Notes due in 2011 with a current aggregate balance of $1,075,000 (hereinafter the "Notes"). The Registrant believes that it cannot with its current debt structure raise sufficient working capital to fully exploit and grow the business of AudioEye at this time.

On June 22, 2011 the Registrant entered into a Master Agreement subject to shareholder approval as may be required under applicable law and subject to closing conditions (hereinafter the "Agreement") with AudioEye Acquisition Corp., a Nevada corporation (hereinafter "AudioEye Acquisition") pursuant to which: (i) the shareholders of AudioEye Acquisition will acquire from the Registrant 80% of the capital stock of AudioEye and (ii) the Registrant will distribute to its shareholders, in the form of a dividend, 5% of the capital stock of AudioEye.

On April 5, 2012 the Registrant and AudioEye Acquisition amended their Agreement in order to separate the Spin-off and Share Exchange so as to allow the payment by AudioEye of the outstanding Registrant Note and to cause the release of the Notes to be effected as soon as practicable but no later than the closing of the Share Exchange. The Amendment also removes the requirement of shareholder approval as a prerequisite to the Share Exchange and Spin-off.
