(Commission File No. 001-33392)

Dear Colleague,

I want to update you on some important news which we've just announced this morning.

ICE has reached an agreement to acquire NYSE Euronext. As you know, NYSE Euronext businesses span a host of markets and products that are complementary to ICE's businesses. The press release announcing the proposal can be found here. ICE will continue to operate from our headquarters office in Atlanta in addition to a New York headquarters in the iconic NYSE building. Combining with NYSE Euronext will increase our already strong presence in New York, London and continental Europe.

We believe this combination will bring a number of important benefits and opportunities to our markets and will significantly enhance our position as a leading global exchange operator. This transaction facilitates operational efficiencies through the consolidation of technology platforms across execution, post-trade and clearing systems. Our combined product offerings and services will bring together the preeminent equity, equity options and listings franchise with important commodities markets, technology resources and innovative leadership. Further, we believe we can unlock significant value for customers and shareholders by continuing to support the evolution of markets, by continuing to innovate, by continuing to deliver industry leading risk management services and by continuing to deliver strong financial returns and cash generation.

It's important to note that our agreement with NYSE Euronext is still subject to shareholder and regulatory approvals which are expected to be finalized in the second half of 2013.

While this proposal will receive considerable media attention and require substantial work from many of us, it is imperative that we not let it distract us from the other important initiatives taking place at ICE. We have important objectives for 2013 and we must continue to deliver on those goals for our customers and our shareholders.

We have a deep bench of experience and resources to support this effort. So, while we are excited about the prospect of the acquisition, it is only one of a number of strategic initiatives that will help continue to improve the strength of the business we have built together.

At 8:45am ET / 1:45pm GMT, we will hold an investor conference call, which will be broadcast live via our website and will be available for replay. We will continue to update you as information on the progress of the transaction becomes available. In the meantime, thank you for your ongoing commitment to ensuring that we meet our objectives of growth and customer service.

Best,

Jeff
