PART II

ITEM 9A(T). CONTROLS AND PROCEDURES

Evaluation of Disclosure Controls and Procedures

Our management is responsible for establishing and maintaining adequate internal control over financial reporting, as defined in Rule 13a-15(f) under the Securities Exchange Act of 1934, as amended. The Company's internal control over financial reporting is designed to provide reasonable assurance regarding the reliability of financial reporting and the preparation of financial statements for external purposes in accordance with generally accepted accounting principles in the United States of America. The Company's management assessed the effectiveness of our internal control over financial reporting as of December 31, 2008. In making the assessment, our management used the criteria set forth by the Committee of Sponsoring Organizations of the Treadway Commission ("COSO") in Internal Control-Integrated Framework. Based upon this assessment, management identified the following weakness in the Company's internal control over financial reporting.

Following the filing of the Bankruptcy Petition on October 31, 2006, the Company terminated substantially all of its accounting personnel. In addition, we changed our accounting software systems. These factors resulted in the delayed preparation and timely filing of our financial statements. Each of these factors contributed to a weakness in our entity level control environment, thereby affecting our disclosure controls and procedures, and our internal control over financial reporting. While the Company is now current in its reporting with the Securities and Exchange Commission, and management has concluded that its disclosure controls and procedures are effective as of the end of the period covered by this Report, the weaknesses in our entity level control environment may arguably persist. As a result, management has concluded that its internal controls over financial reporting at the entity level are ineffective as of the end of the period covered by this Report.

All internal control systems have inherent limitations, including the possibility of circumvention and overriding the control. Accordingly, even effective internal control can provide only reasonable assurance as to the reliability of financial statement preparation and presentation. Further, because of changes in conditions, the effectiveness of internal control may vary over time.

Changes in Internal Control Over Financial Reporting

As discussed above, as a result of the filing of the Bankruptcy Petition on October 31, 2006, we terminated the employment of a substantial portion of our accounting staff, including our Chief Financial Officer, and changed our accounting software systems. Each of these factors resulted in a substantial change in our internal controls over our financial reporting, and resulted in a weakness in our entity level control environment at that time.

Our management discussed the weakness described above with our Audit Committee. In an effort to remediate the identified weakness, we initiated and/or undertook the following actions: Management has retained, and will continue to retain, additional personnel with technical knowledge, experience, and training in the application of generally accepted accounting principles commensurate with our financial reporting and U.S. GAAP requirements.

Where necessary, we will supplement personnel with qualified external advisors.
