(Attach Extra Sheets if Needed)

Capital Senior Living Corporation (the Company) reported in its earnings release of March 7, 2006 that it is reviewing its provision for income taxes internally and with KPMG LLP (KPMG) in their capacity as Independent Registered Public Accountants. As part of this review, the Company is evaluating deferred tax assets and liabilities. Deferred income taxes reflect the net tax effects of temporary differences between the carrying amounts of assets and liabilities for financial reporting purposes and the amounts used for income tax purposes. Completion of this review will require additional time beyond the normal filing deadline of the Form 10-K.

KPMG was engaged by the Company as its independent auditors on June 21, 2005 and is now conducting its first audit of the consolidated financial statements. KPMG has advised the Company that it believes as much as $1.3 million of income tax expense that was identified and recorded by management in the fourth quarter of 2005 should have been recorded in prior years. This income tax expense primarily includes state income and franchise tax items relating to (a) deferred tax assets of the Triad entities which were consolidated by the Company in 2003 and 2004 (b) the transaction in December 2004 in which the Company acquired interests in the Summit, NJ and Trumbull, CT Spring Meadows communities and sold these interests to a joint venture and (c) state tax payments made with the filing of tax returns in excess of estimated provisions, along with state income taxes receivable. The Company has notified its predecessor independent audit firm of KPMG s current conclusion, but has not been able to resolve the matter as of this date. If it is determined that this expense should be reflected in financial statements prior to 2005, the Company may be required to restate those financial statements. Otherwise, this expense will affect the income tax benefit recorded in 2005.

The Company currently does not believe that there will be any significant adjustments to pre-tax income or loss in any prior period. The adjustments to deferred tax assets and income tax provisions are not expected to affect future earnings or previously announced income from operations or cash flows, nor will these adjustments represent a material change in the Company s financial condition. None of these adjustments reflect a change in the underlying economics of the Company s business or its future prospects.
