CNOOC Limited Names World-Class Leaders as Advisory Board Members

Henry Kissinger and Simon Murray join the team along with others

(Beijing, October 29, 2001) - CNOOC Limited (the "Company", SEHK:883, NYSE:CEO) announced today that it has established an International Advisory Board (the "Advisory Board") with top-notch, globally well-respected political figures and corporate leaders as members. This testifies to the Company's commitment to ensuring highest management quality that surpasses international standards and good corporate governance.

The mission of the Advisory Board is to provide the management with strategic advice on world events and macro issues that may impact the Company's development.

The five prominent members of the Advisory Board include former United States Secretary of State, Dr. Henry Kissinger, as well as Mr. Simon Murray, former Managing Director of Hutchison Whampoa and currently the Chairman of a private investment group. Other members are Professor Edward Steinfeld, a political economist at the Massachusetts Institute of Technology, Dr. Erwin Schurtenberger, former Ambassador of Switzerland to China, and Professor Kenneth S. Curtis, an economist at Goldman Sachs and the Vice Chairman of Goldman Sachs Asia.

"As a global oil and gas company, CNOOC Ltd. needs advisors with global vision and world-acclaimed track records to spearhead the Company together with our management team in a dynamic and highly globalized environment. We are delighted that the Company is able to recruit an advisory board with world-class quality and diversity," commented Mr. Wei Liucheng, Chairman and CEO of the Company. "The establishment of the Advisory Board is part of the Company's efforts to ensure highest management quality and best corporate governance, which is of paramount importance to creating values for our shareholders. The Company and our investors will both benefit from it significantly."
