On October 13, 2004 the Board of Directors of Popular approved a new Code of Ethics (the Code) that applies to Popular's directors, officers, employees and certain independent contractors. The revised Code has been significantly modified and expanded to include obligations included in Popular's employee guidelines, expand the scope of required conduct, and reaffirm Popular's ethical values. The Code pretends to deter wrongdoing and address, among other, the following:

1. Honest and Ethical Conduct: Individuals covered by the Code are required to conform to the highest standards of ethics, integrity and morality. Conflicts of interest are prohibited and guidance is provided as to specific situations that may lead to a conflict of interest. Any material transaction or relationship that could reasonably be expected to give rise to such conflict must be disclosed to the Ethics Officer.
2. Disclosure of Financial Information: The Code provides that full, fair, accurate, timely and understandable disclosure of information will be made in reports and documents filed with or submitted to regulatory agencies and in public communications. Individuals involved in the disclosure process are required to (i) be familiar with the disclosure requirements applicable to Popular, as well as with the business and financial obligations of Popular; (ii) not knowingly misrepresent, or cause others to misrepresent, facts about Popular to others, whether within or outside of Popular, including independent auditors, governmental regulators and self-regulatory organizations; (iii) not to take any action to fraudulently coerce or manipulate Popular's independent auditors in any way that could render Popular's financial statements misleading; and (iv) properly review and critically analyze proposed disclosures for accuracy and completeness.
3. Compliance with Laws and Regulations: The Code requires adherence to the standards and restrictions imposed by applicable laws, rules and regulations.
4. Reporting of Violations: The Code requires the immediate report of a suspected or possible violation of law, regulation or Popular ethical standard to any of the following: (i) supervisor or unit manager; (ii) Human Resources Division; (iii) the Ethics Officer; (iii) the Chief Legal Officer; or (iv) the EthicsPoint Hotline. Failure to report any violation or possible violation is considered a violation of the Code. The Code also states that Popular's Audit Committee has established procedures for the receipt, retention and treatment of complaints regarding accounting, internal accounting controls or auditing matters, including procedures for the confidential, anonymous submission of concerns regarding questionable accounting or auditing matters. Complaints or concerns regarding any of these matters are directed to the EthicsPoint Hotline.
5. Accountability for Adherence to the Code: A violation of the Code constitutes a serious offense and may constitute ground for disciplinary action, which may include termination of employment, termination of contract or removal from the Board of Directors.
- 6.
